MOVIE MAGIC

Disney to film in Cohasset

"The Finest Hours" filming in Dec.

By Erin Dale edale@wickedlocal.com

Hollywood has, once again, turned its lens to Cohasset.

Next month, scenes from the upcoming Disney-Dreamworks movie, "The Finest Hours," based on the book of man and Michael Tougias. will be filmed in Cohasset.

"The Finest Hours" tells the story of a 1952 U.S. Coast Guard rescue mission that was launched off the coast of Cape Cod after a pair of oil nor'easter.

VOTE

Special Town Meeting

Starts at 7 p.m., Monday

By Erin Dale edale@wickedlocal.com

Cohasset residents will vote on several warrant articles during the Special Town Meeting on Monday, Nov. 17, starting at 7 p.m. in the Cohasset High School Sullivan Gymnasium.

Special Town Meeting is held in the fall to deal with housekeeping items, such as financial articles that must be dealt with before the end of the calendar year. Annual Town Meeting, which takes place each spring, typically covers the more robust articles and sets the town's fiscal year budget.

There are 13 articles on Monday's docket, along with a citizens' petition. Warrants were mailed out to residents, but what's voted on Monday night will look a little different - two of the citizens' petitions in the warrant have been indefinitely postponed, leaving just one for consideration.

The Board of Selectmen, Advisory and Capital Budget committees have reviewed and voted for or against recommending the warrant articles over the past several weeks, since the meeting was

Pickup truck takes out pole on N. Main Street

By Mary Ford mford@wickedlocal.com

At 12:41 a.m. on Sunday (Nov. 9), police responded to an accident scene on North Main Street by Cedar Street. A 2013 Nissan pickup truck, operated by a 56-year-old Tunton man, was headed south on N. Main Street hen the truck veered off the road and hit a utility pole, cutting it in half. The truck flipped onto its right side and went down into the gully. It also took out several of the white traffic pylons in the process, police said. The truck was totaled and the operator, who told police he was not paying attention, was transported to the hospital with minor injuries. National Grid was notified about the pole. The Taunton man was mailed a citation for failure to stay in marked lanes, police said.

Protective custody

Two wedding guests, a 30-year-old Weymouth man and a 28-year-old Quincy man, were taken into protective custody by police after one of them allegedly threatened the night watchman and were belligerent with officers when they were called to the scene.

The night watchman at the Red Lion Inn called police at 1:25 a.m. on Saturday morning (Nov. 8) when the men became upset and harassing because the watchmen suggested they walk to the Cohasset Harbor Inn where they were staying rather than his calling a cab that would take some time to arrive.

Police were called and the men were taken into protective custody due to their level of intoxication. They were picked up at the station about 90 minutes later by a sober friend, police said.

Dispute

A Jerusalem Road resident complained to police on Tuesday (Nov. 4) around 5:53 p.m. about a parking issue at Linden Drive and Jerusalem Road. Police said two detail officers had been hired to manage traffic at that location for a private event. They explained that in these cases when detail officers are hired parking restrictions could be waived.

Deer accidents

Although deer vs. car accidents can occur at any time of year, in the fall the animals are in the mating season and are more active. Police responded to three accidents involving deer last week: on Beechwood Street, King Street and Sanctuary Pond Road (Route 3A) and Ox Pasture Lane. In the 3A accident, the deer that was suffering had to be put down by an officer; MassDOT removed that deer. In the Beechwood Street accident, the animal had expired and was removed by the DPW.

Advice given

In the Ox Pasture Lane

incident, the deer made its way into the woods.

Police provided advice to a 68-year-old Jerusalem Road woman last week after she came to the station to report a problem with a neighbor over past trespassing. Police advised her to call them right away when this happens. The reported incident was a week old.

Belongings

A couple that called police last week reporting they had left some jewelry behind at the Cohasset

Harbor Inn and that management at the inn could not find the items.

However, the couple did not file a report as police advised them to do.

Fare dispute

Police said a 16-year-old Norwell girl was picked up at the station by her parents and the $60 taxi fare paid following a dispute around 11:30 p.m. on Friday (Nov. 7) over the fare that the girl refused to pay.

Vandalism

A concerned caller reported to police on Saturday afternoon (Nov. 8) that the telephone box had been painted white and a street sign was also torn down in the 500 block of Jerusalem Road.

Wolves

$18,000.

Police believe reports of a couple of wolves on the edge of a parking lot on Sohier Street on Sunday afternoon (Nov. 9) were eastern coyotes. There have not been any prior reports of wolves in the area, police said. Coyotes are bulking up for the winter and could look larger than usual.

WOMPATUCK STATE PARK

Groundbreaking for new bike trail

Massachusetts Energy and Environmental Affairs celebrated the groundbreaking of the Wompatuck State Park trails on Monday. This investment reflects the Patrick Administration's commitment to the improvement and preservation of outdoor recreation infrastructure, facilities and accessibility across the Commonwealth, officials said.

"These trails will serve not only outdoor enthusiasts, but also local residents who use Cohasset Station for their commute." said EEA Secretary Maeve Vallely Bartlett.

The improvements will open a 1.5-mile section of trail connecting the park with the Whitney Spur Rail Trail and the MBTA's Cohasset Station, improving accessibility for residents in Hingham, Cohasset, Norwell and Scituate. Several structures, previously used to assemble United States Navy ammunitions, have been deemed unsafe and will be demolished and the whole site will be remediated.

The Massachusetts
Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) acquired 124 acres of the formerly federally owned Hingham Naval Ammunition Deport Annex and added the property to Wompatuck State Park in 2004.

State Sen. Robert Hedlund, R-Weymouth, said this is a great milestone for park users. "We worked hard to add this area and bike trail to Wompatuck, so having it safe and now open to the public is exciting. Thanks to DCR and the great staff at Wompatuck for their commitment and effort to this project. I also want to thank the Friends of Wompatuck for their advocacy and stewardship. We've made a great park even better today."

State Rep. Garrett Bradley, D-Hingham, said public-private collaboration was key.

"Today's celebration, which will open up the rest of this natural gem to the public for recreation, was made possible due to the spirit of collaboration that has existed between our private and public partners," said Bradley on Monday. "My appreciation and thanks go out to Secretary Maeve Bartlett, outgoing Secretary
Richard Davey, DCR Commissioner Jack Murray and the Friends of Wompatuck for their unflagging efforts to make today a reality."

meeting seeking approval to film in town. The company has already started communicating with town departments, including police and fire, as well as abutters to where the shoots will take place.

Filming will take place on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 1 and 2 at the Cohasset Historical Society's Pratt Building on South Main Street and on Jerusalem Road.

Whatever scene is being shot on Jerusalem is going to be a snowy one: artificial snow will be used on the shoot, and will be cleaned up afterward by the crew (see sidebar).

The production company is also working alongside the Historical Society's director, Lynne DeGiacomo, "to make sure everything is restored and returned to its original state," according to location assistant Jimmy Luc, who told the selectmen that the Pratt Building will be transformed to look like a mid-century bell station, where telephone operators worked.

The crew will park its vehicles at the South Shore Music Circus, where tents will be set up to shelter the crew and equipment, while work vehicles will be parked at St. Anthony's Parish. The production company is ordering portable toilets and hand washing stations will be ordered from "Flush." There will also be a "green environmental person" on hand to "facilitate recycling" during and after the shoot.

One lane on South Main Street will be closed during filming, with traffic being redirected. The production company plans to supply cones, barriers, and intermittent traffic control on Jerusalem Rd. as well.

The scene being shot at the Pratt Building calls for an actress to go outside and look at the storm starting to brew; this effect will be added in digitally, so the film crew will put up a blue screen outside. This will take up one side of South Main Street, said Luc. "We know it's a big street and people need to get by; we'll make sure buses and emergency vehicles can get through," said Luc. "There won't be any problem." The company also has a plan for emergencies, with a medic on staff and drivers who will be able to transport any injured parties to South Shore Hospital.

That first shoot, scheduled for Dec. 1, should take between six and seven hours, roughly a half-day of filming. The crew plans to arrive at 10 a.m. and film from 11 to 5 p.m. On Dec. 2, the crew will head over to Jerusalem Road, where a camera on Forest Avenue will overlook the ocean and film vintage cars driving down the road. There will be around 40 cars used for this shot. The police will stop traffic for around an hour during the shoot, which will start being set up at 3 p.m. Filming will take place between 4 and 5 p.m., just before sunset, which the assistant location manager referred to as the "magic hour" for photography.

This is the scene that calls for faux snow. The movie's special effects team wants to place it on residents' yards, but will not do so without permission. The production company provided a letter and list of ingredients in the product as part of the event application to the town.

Fire Chief Robert Silvia said that the crew wants to use a hydrant to remove the artificial snow, and should be sure to use a Cohasset hydrant, not one from Hingham or Hull. The selectmen asked the location assistants To communicate with the Cohasset Water Department and Department of Public

Preparing for a trip to Belize

Cohasset was met this past Tuesday with some of the best weather we have seen in a few weeks. With a slight breeze in the air yet not cool enough for a jacket, the temperament seemed to honor our country's veterans as we all did. Hopefully the day off served everyone be it attending the ceremony at the Veterans Memorial Park or spending time with friends.

With the immense academic opportunities that arise at Cohasset High School, it is no wonder that a handful of students are planning an educational trip early in 2015, similar to last year's European trip. This year, for those interested in marine biology, ecology, and especially Spanish, the school has offered an exciting trip to Belize. Students will be able to fill their afternoons with exciting activities such as surfing, snorkeling, looking at rainforest habits, as well as exploring ancient local ruins. Some may even have the opportunity to spend the night in a Mayan village. For the past few weeks, enrolled students have been meeting at lunch every Wednesday in order to learn more about the culture and customs of the area. They will be preparing this way until the trip scheduled for the April school vacation. I am extremely envious of these scholars who will be experiencing such a distinctive society and wish them the best on learning about Belize!

While there is a specific sports section in this publication, I always have to give a small shout out to my fellow Skipper athletes. Boy's soccer and football continue to plow ahead through the fierce competition in the South Shore beating both opponents this past week. This Veterans Day was the date of the soccer Division Four South Semi-Finals in which the Skippers won against Nantucket 1-0. While CHS rejoiced in the win, sending the soccer team further in the playoffs, Nantucket had to take the long ferry ride home knowing that they put up a valiant effort. #2 Cohasset will go up against #4 Archbishop Williams this Sunday at 12:15 at Taunton High School. A Super Fan bus will run from the high school for students for $5. In other sports news last Friday's frigid football game culminated with CHS defeating Bishop Connolly 28-7. The road to Gillette is fortunately becoming shorter and shorter with each passing week leading up to the beginning of December. A win for the Skippers this Friday night against Millis Hopedale will propel them further into the reality of a second Super Bowl.

For the past few weeks, enrolled students have been meeting at lunch every Wednesday in order to learn more about the culture and customs of the area.

Powderpuff practices have been long underway for the past few weeks now. With both seniors and juniors eager to get on the field Thanksgiving weekend and determine the fiercer of the two teams, the players and coaches alike have been holding intense practices every couple days. Despite the cold that comes with playing under the lights almost every night, the teams have made a special effort to develop plays to trick the opponents. Also, with only ten days left until the actual game, girls are picking out their names, attempting to be as menacing and witty as possible.

Overall this week has been slightly slow newswise due to the day off, however, our sports teams are keeping the entire student body thoroughly entertained. Hopefully the anticipated Arctic chill forecasted for this weekend will not keep our faithful fans away from our boys as they bring another win home. Go Blue!

Charity run for the shelter

Britt...
Hey there Cohasset, I don't know about you but I am cold today! It has hit me in a big way that winter is definitely coming and I am so excited to have our first really big snowstorm, see all the beautiful sights around with the fresh, white mounds of snow, the kids all playing in it and all of that but can I just say something?

I no longer can deal with the cold like I used too be able to AT ALL! So, with that being said, I am hoping that this little bit of cold weather that we are having right now as "refreshing" as it is, is about as cold as it gets and we can all enjoy it throughout the rest of fall, into winter and then, come out way on the other side refreshed and ready for a wonderful spring sooner, rather than later.

If not however, I will embrace it all and hope that you all will too. Please make sure to take the time to do so, grab as many photos, walks and moments of it all as you can and share it here with us. We are all here in New England together for the same reasons, to enjoy it all.

Get well soon

I wanted to send out a very special get-well wish to Diane Mello from her family and friends. Well, Teg Griffiths, husband of Sarah (Pfaffmann) Griffiths, CHS Class of '76 is finishing up an amazing charity run for the shelter, which he volunteers for and would like to let you all know about it. His challenge was to run 500 miles, (yes, that's right, I said 500 miles) using the 5-finger Vibram's barefoot running shoes, over the course of a year in honor of the Shelters 5th year anniversary. He now has about 12 miles to go and will be finishing them up this Saturday, Nov. 15th at the Animal Shelter and would love to have any of you be there to greet him as he runs across the line! Delivering safe, reliable natural gas service to our customers is our top priority. Pipeline safety is something we take very seriously at National Grid. Even though most lines are buried underground, that doesn't mean you can ignore them.

Keep your family and community safe by helping to prevent gas leaks.

Always call DigSafe® at 1-888-DIG-SAFE (1-888-344-7233) or 811 before you dig.

Know the signs of a gas leak. We've added a spoiled egg smell that makes natural gas easier to identify. Look for bubbles in standing water, a white cloudy mist or blowing dust, which indicates that an underground gas line may have ruptured; or, listen for a hissing, roaring or whistling sound.

If you smell, see or hear any of those indications, leave the area immediately, then call National Grid at 1-800-233-5325. Be smart and be safe. Know what's below — call before you dig and know the signs of a gas leak.

VETERANS

The Kierces are a Marine Corps family

By Erin Dale edale@wickedlocal.com

As Cohasset honored its veterans with a special summit on Saturday, followed by the town's annual Veterans Day ceremony on Tuesday, many were also celebrating a birthday this week – the Marine Corps turned 239 on Monday, Nov. 10.

Paul Kierce, a veteran and chairman of Cohasset's Council on Elder Affairs, celebrated alongside family and friends, attending Monday's Marine Corps luncheon at the Boston Convention and Exhibit Center.

Paul also recently celebrated the retirement of his brother, Robert, after 32 years of reserve and active duty in the Marine Corps, including a tour in Iraq.

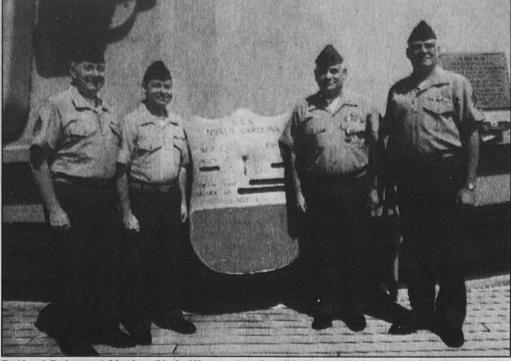

Paul and three of his five brothers are all Marines, following in the footsteps of their father, Chris, who also lives in Cohasset.

In September, Paul, his father and brothers all headed to Wilmington, North Carolina, for Robert's retirement ceremony, which was held onboard the retired ship, the USS North Carolina. Three generations of Kierce Marines, including Robert's son, Michael, all posed together in uniform.

"My father put on his uniform for the first time in 50 years," said Paul. "We all said we wouldn't miss it for the world."

Having a family full of Marines may seem unique enough, but Paul explained that it's even more unusual that every Kierce has served in the air wing.

"It's really rare," he said. Chris worked on the fighter jets at the Naval Air Station in Weymouth in the early 60s, where his sons were later stationed. Robert, who currently works as a police officer in Charlotte, was in the military police squadron, while Paul and brother Dan were both in the marine air support squadron, conducting air traffic control.

Paul, who retired in 1994 after 12 years of service, still lives in town, as does his brother John and sister Maria. Dan lives in Cleveland.

While the Kierce family has spread out a bit, Paul said that everyone pauses to observe the Marine Corps birthday on Nov. 10.

"Wherever you are in the world, you stop what you're doing and raise a glass to the Marine Corps," said Paul.

Marine Corps," said Paul.

He is especially proud of Robert's long-term service, said Paul, who is president of ATC Technologies, Inc. in Wilmington, Mass. "When you have someone who retires after 32 years, this isn't like working 32 years at Raytheon or Fidelity; this is 32 years of saying, 'My country comes before my family, any day of the week.' You will go anywhere they ask you to go, and your first response is. 'Yes.'"

This is where the Marine Corps slogan, "Semper Fidelis," comes from, said Paul. "It's 'always faithful' in Latin... That's what it is."

Paul said that he enjoyed taking part in Cohasset's third annual veterans' forum on Saturday, Nov. 8, which was attended by Boston Marathon hero Carlos Arredondo, along with the state's Secretary of Veterans' Services, Coleman Nee, who also lives in Cohasset.

"There were a lot of services there" for veterans, Paul said of the summit, which offered programs and resources for local veterans, and was held at St. Anthony's Parish. "I networked with some people too to see what services are out there and how we can build up something bigger and better for our town, regionally, too.

"We're part of the South Shore, and when it comes to veterans' services, you can't be isolated by town," Paul added. "We really have to network... there are so many agencies and non-profits where all of this federal money flows to. With elder affairs, it's the same thing; there's a lot of stuff out there, but you really have to network."

The retired Marine rounded out his veterans week with Monday's Marine Corps luncheon, where Kathy Crosby-Bell of Cohasset received an award for her son, Boston firefighter Michael Kennedy, a Marine who passed away in a Back Bay fire in March 2014.

Part of the Marine tradition is honoring those currently in service, and remembering those who have passed away, said Paul. "Once a Marine, always a Marine."

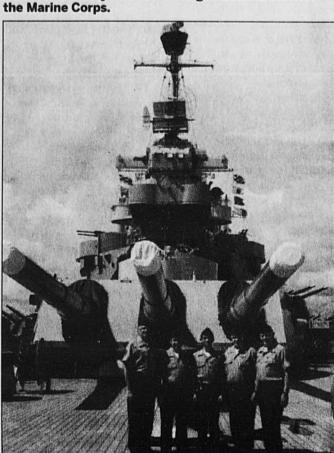

On Monday, Paul caught up with Coleman Nee again, along with state Secretary of Education, Matthew Malone, who was Paul's radio chief in the Marine Corps League Detachment 125 in Cape Cod.

When it comes to being a Marine, it's a small world, said Paul. "We're everywhere."

Outdoors shop sets up in old liquor store

By Erin Dale edale@wickedlocal.com

A beer cooler might not seem like a logical place to display sunglasses, but in Outside In, it makes perfect

The outdoor apparel store, which opened in Cohasset about three and a half years ago, moved a few doors down from its original location on South Main Street and now occupies the space where Village Wine & Spirits used to be (29 South

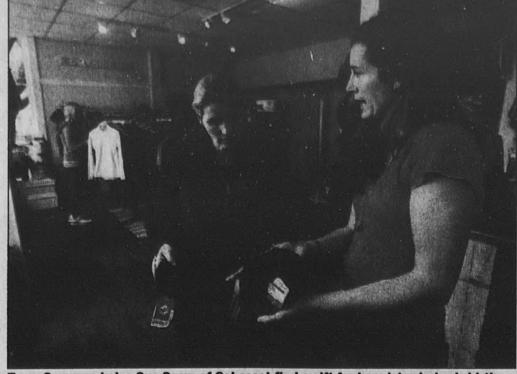

Any vestiges of the former liquor store are gone except for the beer coolers, of course. On a Tuesday afternoon, a customer remarked on what a "good idea" the unique display is.

It's been a matter of "getting creative" with the new space, said owner Tracy Cameron. A great deal of work was done over a twoweek period at the end of September to get the store ready for its Oct. 2 grand re-opening.

Cameron enlisted local contractors, including Big Brush Paint of Cohasset and Coldwater Contracting of Scituate, to get the relocated shop up and running again.

We kept it local, and everybody was excited about upgrading the space and making it what it is," said Cameron. "We had a lot of hands to help."

Maria Monaco, said she is happy in her new place, and thinks it serves the store better than the previous location.

When the space became available, we thought the street-front windows would be great for us," along with a more "open space." Also appealing was having "everything on one level," versus the previous space, which had a downstairs and a ramp at the store entrance.

Overall, Outside In has gotten "a nice facelift," said Cameron. "It's been a good wide array of outdoor sporting goods - only now, there is more space for even more merchandise.

"With the new space, we've been able to add more accessories," said Cameron. Soon, she will start selling ski movies, which will also be played on the store's new TV. The owner predicted that the DVDs will make good "stocking stuffers."

The store boasts a few new brands of skiing, crosscountry, running, mountain biking and yoga apparel and accessories, as well as some old favorites. Outside In now offers products from Outdoor Tech, a range of wireless, waterproof speakers with Bluetooth technology.

Top selling brands include Patagonia and Mountain Khakis, a menswear line (Outside In was the menswear winner of South Shore Living's 2013 "Best of South Shore" awards).

In addition to a range of energy foods, water bottles, and skincare, Cameron tries to offer plenty of fair-trade and eco-friendly items, such as Urban Junket bags and wallets made from recycled water bottles, colored with non-toxic dyes.

If sports aren't your thing, the store sells plenty of fashionable items, including knit hats and gloves, along with the bags, although the sport-ing good items are suitable for the sports enthusiast on anyone's Christmas shopping list.

Cameron said that she holds a tent sale every winter, which could coincide with the annual village holiday stroll. This year's stroll could be transformed into a brand new "Festival of Lights," spearheaded by Monaco, who is Acting Represenatative of the Cohasset Chamber of Commerce.

"It sounds really fun and festive," said Cameron.

The potential new town tradition would involve a tree-lighting ceremony downtown. The Board of Selectmen plan to vote on the matter during their Wednesday, Nov. 19 meeting.

who have younger kidsbring your skis and swap them out," she explained. It's a fun way to save money on equipment. "When kids are young it's hard to buy new skis every year."

Cameron, an avid skier, said that she and her family try to take advantage of the cold winters and spend a lot of time on the slopes. We ski every weekend and take a trip out west every year back to Jackson Hole, where it all started," she said. "If we have a winter like we did last year, we'll get a lot of cross-country skiing in. Wompatuck is great for that."

Cameron lives in Scituate with her husband Jason, who grew up in Cohasset, and their two kids, Henry, 9, and Emmett, 6,

The active family also tries to participate in as many local marathons and races as possible. On the back wall of the store hangs a big chalkboard with a list in the area. If the Outside In family isn't running in the race, said Cameron, they at least try to have a booth there.

One race she will definitely be running, a few weeks from now, is the Thanks-for-Giving 5K in Cohasset, taking place on Thanksgiving Day. The event starts early enough in the morning (around 7 a.m.) that Cameron said there is still plenty of time to get the turkey in the oven. "There's enough time to house for a Bloody Mary, then go home and cook dinner," Cameron said with a laugh.

When summer rolls back around, the store will once again offer bike rentals for residents or visitors who want to explore the coastal area on two wheels. Cameron also hopes to add paddleboards next year.

For now, she is enjoying her prominent new spot on South Main.

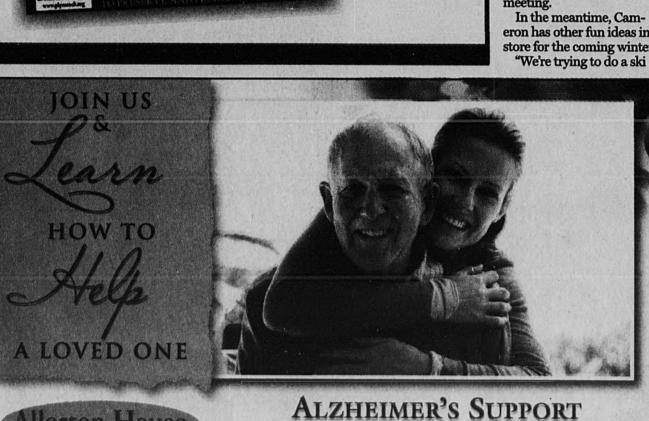

"It's fun to be on the street, even though we were two doors down," said Cameron, pointing out the bakery just across the street. "Although it's dangerous being across from Baked!"

What's coming to the former home of Outside In? A dog boutique called "Fetch," which Cameron believes is set to open by Black Friday (Nov. 28).

The store owner is ready to welcome the new proprietors to the neighborhood. The new shop "looks really cute, Cameron said.

Outside In is located at 29 South Main Street in Cohasset and is open Tuesday through Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Friday and Exturday from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call 781-383-0364 or visit online at outsideincohasset.

Getting your house in order

By Linda Fechter

Thinking that your home is too small and you need an addition? Or just want to leave it all behind and move even though you love your location and don't have a huge budget? Maybe it's time for a change of perspective and to hire someone who can look at your living space with a different set of eyes, as is the goal of Marie Dunkelberger and her company Spaces Redefined. Spaces Redefined is a service for those who love where they live, have a budget to make some changes and a desire for their house to meet their family's needs. "I'm the person you bring in if your home doesn't work for you, and I'd say that most people live this way everyday," says Dunkelberger. "Lots of square footage can still equal very small amounts of functional space. I like to show people how a well designed small house is more valuable than a bigger space that makes no sense." Founded in 2014, Spaces Redefined already has clients in Cohasset, Hingham as well as some out of state. Dunkelberger is working on projects from kitchen redesign to entire house design, including renovations and additions. She loves the idea of saving owners money, coming in under budget in many cases, and having them be pleasantly surprised by how much they can actually love their existing house if rooms are reconfigured or storage space is built in. Dunkelberger, a Cohasset resident, worked commercially for a developer and then for an architect in Boston. At the architectural firm she helped corporations better define their space on the basis of square footage and efficiency. She says that "paying for space is an important expense for any business so the focus was on getting clients the most bang for the buck. Now she wants to do the same for residential customers. She believes that the majority of homeowners put more design emphasis on aesthetics. Her focus is on the true definition of Interior Design-the design and use of interior space. "Homeowners often buy their home, have children and eventually realize how inadequate it is, so they put on an addition and the existing space goes unused," says Dunkelberger. "Sometimes the best solution is to redesign what they already have. My own home is small, but people are always commenting about how well-organized it is and that's because I designed it to have a place for everything my family uses and needs. Dunkelberger went to college for design and started out with a degree in the finish end of the industry-decorating. However, she had a much stronger desire to be in the heart and soul of a space, "to affect the overall design and function," so she went back to school, attending the emphasis there was "deeply rooted in the technical side of design." And it was there that she studied her self-described perfect combination of interior architecture and interior design." "My father was a plumber, I used to watch everything he did on the job site," she recalls. "His work plans were always on our kitchen table and I was fascinated by how he could read them and how all the different elements of construction and finish work came to life. Years ago, Dunkelberger took a "break" from her designing career so that she and her husband could start a family. Now that their kids are get-ting older she decided it was time to get back into doing what she loves to do. After projects for friends and family she decided it was time create, "Spaces Redefined" —a business with a name that hits the nail right on the head.

"I'm very much like "Love it or List It" says Dunkelberger. "Bring-ing someone like me in for a consultation is an opportunity to look at the existing house to look at a home's blueprint and see if we can get everything in there that the client wants, that's my expertise," says Dunkelberger. "I can then bring the ideas and plans to contractors for costs and then look at the options. It's money well spent before making such a giant decision to move or to spend an enormous amount of money to simply add on more space."

published a Request for Proposals (RFP) for professional consultants to conduct a search for Cohasset's next permanent police chief.

The town has been without a permanent chief since March 2012, when then chief Mark DeLuca was suspended and Deputy Chief William Quigley was appointed as Acting Chief.

The RFP calls for a "consultant to review a pool of viable candidates, organize and conduct an assessment

Proposals are due to the town manager's office by 3 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 24. The chosen consultant has until March 30, 2015 to complete the entire recruitment process, "unless the deadline is extended by mutual agreement."

Quigley, like Gjesteby, said that she is not against the tri or Burnett. "I have consistently said to you, Bill, I admire what you have done and envy that you found something you love to do and can make a living at it... in no way is this to be construed as antitriathlon or Bill Burnett."

However, Quigley suggested that Burnett is a victim of his own success," as the tri continues to grow each year. "The more successful it is, the more people want to be in it... you have people waitlisted."

But Quigley wanted to know the event's track record of charitable donations, acknowledging that it is for-profit and the amount Burnett makes erson before you has a from putting the event on is

Santa is coming!

If you and your family would like to be a part of Santa's arrival in Cohasset Harbor at the Jingle Bell Walk on Friday, Nov. 28 here is your chance.

This year marks the 20th Anniversary of the Jingle Bell Walk-a holiday tradition that kicks off the merriest season of the year. To commemorate this milestone, the SSCC is raffling off an opportunity for a local family to be a part of the event. You and your family will meet Santa personally and accompany he and Mrs. Claus as they journey across Cohasset Harbor, in Santa's boat, arriving at Government Island at 2 p.m. A cheering throng of fans and friends will greet you. Once on dry land, you will be escorted to a waiting hay wagon drawn by Clydesdale horses, which will lead the parade through the town to the center. Hot chocolate, coffee, punch and cookies will be waiting for you and the assembled crowd. There will be holiday carols and the Rusty Skippers Band will be there to provide some tunes to get everyone into the holiday spirit. Children will be able to create their own special holiday ornament to take home. There will be open bowling for all to enjoy. Bring your cameras because Santa will be available for you to take that special holiday photo. And enjoy your own Holiday Hayride around the Town Common while listening to the Bells of St. Stephen's play. event. "For some time we've been talking about having a larger conversation on events coordination in Cohasset," said Gjest-eby, adding that while some events are "community sponsored," others have a more "commercial somponent."

Gjesteby said that she rith a merchandising area n Sandy Beach encouragng race-goers to shop. She lso mentioned a for-profit narathon that the board pproved this year. While he town appears to be artnering with the orgaizations putting on these vents, "We are not truly artners; we are sharing in he profits," said Gjesteby.

The Cohasset Rotary's nnual road race, Gjesteby oted, "benefits the com-nunity." She is concerned hat the triathlon "takes ver the town during our ery busy summer season." Selectmen vice-chair teve Gaumer said that this night seem like an issue, xcept that Cohasset is not nown as a tourist destination that relies on summer visitors "entering town to spend their money here so we may survive the rest of the year."

Gaumer asked the board to consider a bigger event policy discussion at some other point, and in the meantime simply review the permit application before them.

"This isn't a first timer," aid Gaumer. "The his business. "Nobody has the right to ask how much the [charitable] contribu-

To date, the tri has raised over $1 million for juvenile diabetes research. Burnett said he also donates to local causes, including the Cohasset Food Pantry, Cohasset Education Foundation, or other needs that arise. For example, Burnett the fire department and Elder Affairs on the new 'Cohasset Cares" initiative to install smoke detectors in senior citizens' homes.

Burnett said that while he doesn't "know for certain" where all of the donations will be made, "I know I'm going to give back to this town."

Quigley had several more questions about the public safety plan, overflow parking in the Deer Hill school's lot, whether the portable restrooms placed at Sandy Beach need Board of Health approval, if any live music being performed requires an entertainment license, and whether Burnett was working with the local clergy and Chamber of Commerce to ensure downtown access to residents during the tri, which historically has taken place on a Sunday morning.

Quigley said that from her point of view, the event application is incomplete. Burnett said he was surprised by the litany of questions. "I'm disapyou make," said Quigley adding however, "The community should know what we're a professional event company," he said. "This is nothing new."

However, Burnett proceeded to answer the questions, explaining that the police and fire departments have a comprehensive 15 to 20 page public safety plan that he did not include as said he is partnering with tion, which he has filled out before and helped develop on a special events committee.

"It's what we've done for the last nine years," he said of the safety plan.

Fire Chief Robert Silvia said that in Burnett's defense, the plans come from public safety, not from the event company.

When you see my signature on there, saying 'see plan,' that's my plan,' said Silvia, adding that he could share last year's plan, however next year's may be tweaked; it's something very fluid that we've worked on for nine years."

The fire chief added that there's no cause for alarm. "I think this is an incredibly safe event. I wouldn't put my signature on it if I didn't."

Regarding the overflow parking issue, Burnett said that this will come before the School Committee in February or March, and that board approved the use of Deer Hill's lot for this summer's triathlon.

Selectmen Diane Kennedy pointed out that earlier in the meeting, the board voted unanimously to approve letting Disney-Dreamworks film scenes from an upcoming Hollywood movie in town next month, which will close off two roads for two days of filming.

"Probably the totality in town with those road closures is going to be more part of the event applica- significant" than the tri, junior tri on July 11, 2015, said Kennedy, adding that which will be the second the race has become a Cohasset staple. "There are asked to delay voting to an probably 500 people I hear from consistently in Cohasset who participate [in the tri] or are volunteers," she said. "It's somewhat of an indigenous program the town rallies behind.'

Gaumer motioned that the board conditionally approve the event permit, pending sign-offs on traffic and safety plans, specific department approval and evidence of an insurance policy 60 days before the event. The board voted 3-1 in favor of the event, with Gjesteby voting "nay" and Quigley abstaining, saying again that she felt the application was incomplete.

The ninth annual Cohasset Triathlon will take place on Sunday, June 28, 2015. Burnett also submitted an event application to hold a upcoming agenda.

A SALUTE TO YOUR FAVORITE VETERANS

Robert Myron Tong, U.S Air Force, World War II

The late Robert Myron Tong, most recently of Stoughton, son of Myron and Evagenline Tong of Quincy and husband of Barbara Heselton Tong.

He deserves an extra salute for the inredibly brave service to our country during World War II.

As a technical sergeant, radio gunner in a B-24 of the 464th Heavy Bomb group, 15th Air Force, he was shot down over the Ploesti Oil fields in Romania and given up for dead by the military officials and the military chaplain who visited my mother and grandmother to tell them of "the explosion of the B-24 that blew into many pieces, unlikely any crew reached the

Frances Rogers, U.S. Army, World War II

I am writing to salute Mrs. Frances Rogers (my mother) who has been a long time resident of Marshfield and is a WWII veteran.

Frances just turned 93 in September. She grew up in Pepperell, Mass. until her house burned down during the depression. She then continued her schooling in Nashua. She attended nursing school at Boston City Hospital and graduated in 1942. She enlisted in the Army, but told her parents she was drafted as she knew they would not want her to go.

Frances helped set up the operating rooms when they landed in France. She worked 16 hours on and 8 hours off. She also smuggled a black kitten with her between France and London. She recalls eating rations and how wonderful it was when French women would sell them sandwiches over the fence made on freshly baked bread with

Frances continues to be active in Marshfield, attends the Senior Center, plays bingo and does bird carving. She has been on the building committee for the Senior Center, a member of the 60 plus club, a member of the Council on Aging

William Handrahan, Army Air Force, World War II

My family's own special hero is our father, William (Bill) Handrahan.

He served during World War II from July 1943 until April 1946. He was a private, first class in the Army Air Force. He grew up in Hull and attended Hingham High until being drafted for the war. He lived the majority of his life in Hingham and now resides at Sunrise Assisted Living Home in Cohasset. 5 He has more recently shared stories and details about his service.

'I went to California then back to Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and then we went up to New York from there and shipped out. I was in the Army for three years. We went from Weymouth, England to France right near where D-Day landed and went to Belgium from there and set up around the 9th Air Force Base." In the Bulge, the Germans came right around from behind and we just got out before they closed up the wedge. After we broke through the Bulge, the Germans were still camped on the other side of the river like they wanted to come at us again. We set up all our guns along the river and just kept firing our 50 caliber anti-aircraft guns until they finally receded back away from the river and then we got a lot of guys from the airbase out of there. We were there for a good week and it was cold! We didn't have warm coats, they finally issued us something warm about half-way through the winter."

-Patty Bean, Washington

William Handrahan served in the Army Air Force during World War II.

Stanley Szejnar, U.S. Navy, World War II I would like to honor my ers and was in route to the hero and husband of 69 years, E. Stanley Szejnar, who served in the Navy during WWII from 1941 - 1945.

Stanley, originally from Buffalo, N.Y., was stationed at the U.S. Naval Air Station in South Weymouth before he was transferred to the U.S.S. Ticonderoga Aircraft Carrier in 1942. He traveled to the Pacific and the ship was hit in 1943. After the hit, he returned to Norfolk, Virginia and was reassigned to the Destroyer U.S.S. Dy-

Pacific in 1945 when the war ended.

Stanley and I married in 1945 and he has made Hanover and Massachusetts his home.

He is a retired member of the Local #537 Pipe fitters union and past commander of the Post #149 American Legion and former V.F.W. #178804, both in Hanover.

His daughter, Candace Finnie now lives in Ocala, Fla. with his granddaughter Ericka.

Joseph Sullivan and a fellow soldier in 2010 during his first tour of duty in Afghanistan.

Joseph Sullivan, U.S. Army National Guard, Iraq and Afghanistan

My son, SFC Joe Sullivan is my favorite veteran. Joe has been a soldier for 22 years. He joined the Army National Guard soon after graduating from Marshfield high school. He has been deployed three times - serving in one tour in Iraq and two in Afghanistan.

He is currently deployed in Afghanistan on his second mission for Operation Enduring Freedom and is soon to come home. He is currently in charge of the Third Platoon with the 379 Engineers out of Buzzards Bay. At the time of his first deployment in 2003, Joe was living at home and there was no warning to let us know that he was being deployed to Iraq. It felt like he died; it was the worst for Joe's second deployment in 2010 for Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan was the most difficult for him. While serving, Joe's girlfriend (now his wife) was injured. While driving a gun truck in a convoy, she was shot at and lost her eye. She is no longer in the military.

Joseph Sullivan is soon to return from his second deployment to Afghanistan.

tour of duty, Joe enjoys his role in the military and is proud of his platoon. I am so proud of my son and his achievements.

Richard F. Foy, U.S. Army, Korean War Joshua Archibald, U.S. Army, Afghanistan

My two favorite Veterans are my father, Richard F. Foy, a U.S. Army veteran who served during the Korean War, and my son, U.S. Army Specialist Joshua Archibald of Marshfield who is currently stationed at Fort Knox,

The picture of the two of them was taken at Joshua's going away party before his deployment to Afghanistan in June 2013. Joshua came home to us from deployment in March 2014, but sadly, my dad got very sick and passed away 16 days before Joshua got home.

All of our service members give up so much to serve. It brings me great joy to honor them today and every day.

A SALUTE TO YOUR FAVORITE VETERANS

Helen Dowd today and during her service in the Marine Corps. Dowd was recently honored for her service by the Scituate Historical Society

Helen A. Dowd, U.S Marine Corps

I want to tell you just a little about my Aunt Sis (Gunnery Sgt. Helen A. Dowd) and why she is my favorite Veteran. A graduate of Scituate High School class of '49, she served in the USMC for more than 20 years working her way up the ranks to Gunnery Sergeant as she traveled the world in service to her country.

Now, at 83 years young, she is a volunteer at Lifecare Center in Scituate, keeps in touch with her pen pals from Ireland and New Zealand, which she has been doing for more than 60 years and recently received an honor for her service from The Scituate Historical Society in remembrance of Rebecca and Abigail Bates 200th Anniversary. And not only that, she is warm and giving person, and a wonderful aunt to me.

-Billy Dowd, Scituate

Joseph Mastriani in Vietnam.

Joseph Mastriani, U.S. Army, Vietnam War

My favorite veteran is Joseph Mastriani of Marshfield. I am a teacher at Hingham High School and Joe is one of our most beloved substitute teachers, so while he is from Marshfield, he has made an enormous impact on the lives of our students in Hingham.

Joe is a 1964 graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point. He served two tours of duty in Vietnam as an airborne ranger, with both the 101st and the 82nd divisions.

After a 30-year career with Bell Atlantic, he became a substitute teacher. This can be a thankless job, but Mr. Mastriani has made an incredible name for himself, especially as a social studies and a math teacher. He is incredibly well respected by our students. Always helping the students make connections between what they are learning and what is going on in the world today, Joe goes the extra mile. Before he comes in to sub, he asks what we're covering so he can prepare himself and truly teach the students.

Beyond that, he has generously given his time to speak about his experience in Vietnam, to help our students understand more about that war, and to honor his 23 fallen classmates. He is a remarkable man, always learning, always active, and always willing to help. I am honored to know him.

- Christina O'Connor, Hingham

Kevin F. Coyne, U.S. Air Force, Iraq

My favorite veteran is my Uncle Kevin — Staff Sgt. Kevin F Coyne.

Originally from Roslindale, he now lives in Braintree and is a teacher at Braintree High School, He has served in the military for 10 years; in the in the U.S. Air Force and afterward in the Massachusetts Air National Guard

He served in Operation

John J. Noble served in France during World War I.

John J. Noble, American Expeditionary Forces, World War I

"I heard the French church bells and I knew it was over. I was going home."

My Uncle John, my father's brother, was speaking of the last day of World War I.

John J. Noble, of Dorchester, enlisted in the Army when "the war to end all wars" broke out. He was a corporal with the American Expeditionary Forces in the Coastal Artillery Command in France. He was hit with mustard gas (a weapon of the Germans) and suffered its results the rest of his life.

He became an active advocate for the veterans. He would shoot off a letter to the president if he thought the veterans weren't getting their due. The White House always responded.

He died in May of 1991 at the age of 93, ironically on Memorial Day.

Military service runs in the Feyler family. Pictured here are Marian, Danny and Kevin Feyler.

Kevin Feyler, U.S. Marine Corps, Daniel Feyler, U.S. Army

We are lucky in Marshfield to have many veterans who have protected our country and ideals. It's difficult to single out an individual but I know I have this right. I would like to acknowledge the Feyler family.

Kevin, the father had served two terms in Iraq and is known to many as "Gunny" he is a Master Sergeant of the USMC. Kevin continues to help our community, we served together with Kiwanis and I can tell you, he has been instrumental on many great projects not withstanding the new Veterans park addition. He is also the Marshfield safety officer and I know he has helped many other organizations in Marshfield.

I can also state that his wife Marian, who had to raise the family when Kevin was serving in Iraq, is right there by his side; she is a caring and passionate person. Finally, the apple does not fall far from the tree. Danny, his son just graduated officer candidate school.

—Jack Griffin, Marshfield

Brendan R. Shine, U.S. Navy

Our favorite veteran is our son, Ensign Brendan R. Shine. He is a 2006 graduate of Marshfield High School and a 2010 graduate of Providence College. Brendan graduated U.S. Navy Officer Candidate School (OCS) in 2012 and is currently training at the Naval Air Station Pensacola Flight School in Florida.

Ensign Brendan R. Shine is in flight school at NAS Pensacola.

John Nee, U.S Navy

I'm so proud of my nephew and favorite veteran John Nee of Milton who has been serving in the U.S. Navy for two years and is stationed currently in San Diego.

-Jacqueline Connell, Marshfield

John Nee is currently stationed in San Diego

World War II veteran George William Parrelli fought in France during the battle of Normandy.

George William Parrelli, U.S. Army, World War II

Our favorite veteran is our World War II Papa. His name is George William Parrelli.

He fought in France during the battle of Normandy and earned two Purple Hearts for the wounds he suffered in battle. He fought in Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland, and Ardennes before moving on to Belgium and Germany.

His baptism by fire was on the 24th of July in 1944 in St. Lo France when approximately 3,000 United States aircraft bombed a narrow section of the front during Operation Cobra. Inaccurate bombings by the U.S. killed 111 of their own men and wounded almost 500.

This friendly fire saw the death of the highest ranking US solider to be killed in action in the European Theater of Operations, General Lesley McNair, and our Papa was there with him, and luckily, he survived.

An assault ordered by Hitler to eliminate the gains made by the United States took place in August of 1944, and our grandfather lay in a foxhole for a week and a half. This is where he spent his 21st birthday.

Our favorite veteran has a Good Conduct Metal, two Purple Hearts, a European African Middle Eastern European Campaign Ribbon and a Distinquished Unit Badge. He served in the United States Army for two years and seven months and was honorably discharged in October of 1945 at the rank of Sergeant. He was a Rifleman with a SharpShooter Rifle and was injured twice in battle by enemy fire

Our Papa was just recently honored by the Consul General of France with France's highest award, the Legion of Honor. This medal is given for merits and accomplishments, and France's infinite gratitude and appreciation for personal and precious contribution to the Untied States' decisive role in the liberation of France during World War II. He was pinned in a private ceremony by the Consul General himself, Mr. Fabien Fieschi at his residence, as a personal guest of he and his wife, along with our entire family, followed by a reception in our Grandfather's honor.

Our Papa lives in West Roxbury with our Nana. He is 91 years old and the most awesome Veteran ever.

Thankful for our veterans

Thank you for your service So amazing and so true You always fight for our freedoms You risk your lives too.

I just wanted to thank you
For trying something fierce
To fight against those people
Who our freedom they want to pierce.

You help us and assist us While we do nothing in return As you do the things That make most stomachs churn

This poem is to thank you
For I just wanted to say,
For keeping our rights and freedoms
In the U.S.A!

A conversation with governor-elect

By Rick Holmes

here's campaigning and there's governing," Charlie Baker told me a week before the polls opened. He knows the difference, he said, and the rest of us, having watched the candidate for a year, are about to meet the governor.

Unlike his two predecessors, Deval Patrick and Mitt Romney, Baker will already know his way around the State House when he takes office in January. He spent most of the '90s working closely with two governors, and we talked about what it takes to succeed.

It starts with keeping your ear to the ground.
"I like to get out there and talk to people on the ground about what's happening," Baker told me in a lengthy interview after an appearance in Framingham. "I really do believe that if you just talk to your own team and if you don't get outside and talk to other people, you get a warped sense about how things are going."

As governor, a lot of those calls will go to local officials, who, he says, often know most about what's happening in their communities. Baker did something pretty unusual for someone who has had a career at the center of state government: He went home to Swampscott in 2004 and ran for selectman.

"Like everything else, you learn a whole bunch of things about your town and yourself. I learned a lot about what state government looks like from the other end."

Baker knows from experience that there's only so much a governor can do on his own. Legislators have their own priorities and their own mandates. Legislative leaders are used to ignoring governors – whatever their party – if their agendas don't align.

What matters on Beacon Hill, Baker said, are relationships and trust. He said he met regularly with the chairs of the committees with oversight over the departments he led—Health and Human Services and Administration and Finance—then reeled off a list of Democrats he had good relations with.

who was in the Legislature called me up and yelled at me about one thing or another. And frankly, while I didn't like getting yelled at, I was glad they told me what they thought. I was glad they did that instead of having a press conference. In the long run, that's going to be a more constructive way to get something accomplished."

"Weld said to me one time - and I thought this was great advice - 'if somebody's going to vote against me, I want it to be because they don't like something I'm trying to accomplish. I don't want them to vote against me because they don't like me."

Baker learned about bipartisanship at a young age, listening to debates at the dinner table between his conservative father, who served in the Nixon and Reagan administrations, and his liberal Democrat mother. And while he was a bit of a firebrand in his early years at the Pioneer Institute — a right-leaning think tank where his job, he said "was to push public conversation" — he is, by nature, a conciliator.

"In the end, if you spend enough time with people, and if you're open to what they have to say, if you're polite and respectful in the way you make your case – the same way my parents were with each other – you can move the needle."

Romney was a stranger to Beacon Hill, and never bothered learning how to fit in. Patrick made some early mistakes – including a kerfuffle over new drapes for his office – but he learned from them. Patrick also put Baker on his transition team, one sign of the bipartisan respect he had earned.

Now it's Baker's time to govern, and he's ready to get started. I asked him whether he, like his friend Weld, might get bored with the job.

"I was never bored once, the entire time I worked in state government," he said, "and I would never be bored as governor.

"I will love the job every single day."

DEMOCRATIC TOWN COMMITTEE

'Gasland Part II' to be shown at library

oin Cohasset Democratic Town Committee to view "Gasland Part II," on Friday, Nov. 21. This follow-up to the Oscarnominated film "Gasland," by filmmaker, Josh Fox, takes a closer look at the dangers of hydraulic fracturing, or fracking for natural gas and oil. This method of extracting natural gas and oil is now occurring worldwide in 32 countries and pipelines carrying fracked gas may be coming to Massachusetts in the near future. "Gasland Part II," which premiered at the 2013 Tribeca Film Festival, shows how the concerns of many have been raised on all sides. On a global scale, fracking and natural gas contributes to pollution at drilling sites and is adding to worldwide climate change, according to Fox. While natural gas has lower carbon dioxide emissions than other fossil fuels, leaks in extraction and transmission emit methane, which is known to be a more powerful greenhouse gas as it traps more heat for a longer period of time in the atmosphere than carbon dioxide. So, small leaks in production and delivery can have a large climate impact, "enough to gut the benefit of switching from coal-fired production." Fracked gas is pumped at very high pressure increasing the likelihood of leaks, ruptures and explosions. Pipelines bisect family farms, protected wooded areas, wetlands and wildlife habitats. As well as the impact on climate change of fracking, the film looks at how the oil and gas industries are in Fox's words "contaminating our democracy." In Massachusetts, highpressure pipelines have been proposed by Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, which is a subsidiary of Kinder Morgan Energy Partners. One pipeline will run through Pennsylvania and New York State into Richmond, Mass., in the Berkshires, through Dracut, Mass., where it is planned to join existing pipelines that connect to the Massachusetts and the Canadian coasts. This proposed pipeline will cross conservation lands, as well as private properties as it carries natural gas from the Marcellus Shale, an area of sedimentary rock found in Eastern North America, which extends through much of the Appalachian Basin. The pipeline project proposes to include eight new compressor stations, three of which will be in Massachusetts. The company pre-filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Sept. 15, 2014 (docket # PF14-22) and intends for the pipeline to be operational by November 2018.

Join others in the Meeting Room of Paul Pratt Memorial Library, 35 Ripley Road, at 7 p.m., on Friday, Nov. 21, for this look at this growing and controversial environmental issue. All are welcome. Movies are free; refreshments will be served.

Championing a great cause

ctober marked a very special month for Balance Studio and the nation as a whole. Balance Studio celebrated six years in Cohasset-but more importantly October marked Breast Cancer Awareness month. In honor of our community, who make us shine every day and in honor of so many who have battled, lost and won the fight against breast cancer, we offered two complementary classes to help shed light in the cause and bring everyone together. The studio was lit up with black lights and pink glow sticks. We hosted two glow in the dark classes; one for barre and one for yoga. We lit up the night PINK- donations were accepted to benefit National Breast Cancer Foundation.

We raised over $400 for NBCF and packed the studio with love and light. We are so grateful our Balance community over the last SIX years and to the causes we have championed.

The light and love in our hearts acknowledges and appreciates the light and love in your hearts.

Support Senior Center project

ellow Cohasset residents,
At this Monday's
Special Town Meeting, we have a unique opportunity to deliver the town an incredible asset. Located at 91 Sohier St. is a $3.7 million, 8,000 square foot, state-of-the-art facility built entirely with private funds for the sole purpose of becoming the new home of Cohasset's Elder Affairs.

This senior center project has become a reality due to the tireless efforts of the Social Service League and the generosity of their donors. Now, they need our help to ensure that the transition of Cohasset Elder Affairs to the new senior center is a smooth one.

Please come out on Monday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m., in the Cohasset High School gym and voice your support for Article 6. Article 6 will enable the Town Manager and Board of Selectmen to take the steps necessary to incorporate the Cohasset Senior Center into the town structure and make move in possible. So often we appeal to our seniors for their support when there is a need to build or renovate our schools, libraries, playing fields, etc. and in the end, the backing is there and the project gets done. Now we have the chance to do something for them. And remember, we 30, 40, and 50-somethings of Cohasset are tomorrow's seniors. We are investing in our own future.

Thank you in advance.

CASP appreciates support

n behalf of the leadership of the Cohasset Appalachia Service Project (Cohasset ASP), I would like to sincerely and warmly thank this community (and the Mariner staff!) for its support of our 12th annual Pumpkin Patch: the "Barn Owl" on North Main Street. Thanks: to Phil Lehr and his crew, to all those who helped unload pumpkins, to all those who volunteered as sales persons, and especially to the hundreds of folks who stopped by to wander among the 6,000 pumpkins to make their selections. It is truly a unique and fun "event" of the season. Thanks to everyone's assistance and generosity, we were once again able to raise over $15,000 for next summer's work/camp trip to Appalachia. See you in our Village Fair Secret Room Saturday, Dec. 6. Thanks, again. —Judy and Gary Ritts.

Another letter to Chris Senior: changed views

ello once again Chris,
I had such a wonderful time writing you a few weeks back that I thought I'd follow it up with another letter. A quick aside, have you noticed that letter writing seems to be a lost art these days as texting, instagramming and other electronic means have taken center stage?

The town meeting is next week and I am sure you have been working hard prepping for the event. I'll be there, if you see me make sure you come over and say hello. Did you get a chance to go out and enjoy the town on Halloween? Specifically, did you get a chance to come trick or treating here on Fairoaks? It was yet another busy night. When it was all said and done, we had about 170 trick or treaters come to the door. My two favorite costumes was the kid dressed as Santa and the little boy dressed as a kissing booth; he was adorable. Perhaps you might be able to do me a favor and put in a good word in with the Selectmen on behalf of all of us here on Fairoaks. We could really use a tax credit to help pay for all of the candy we give out. Thanks in advance for this, it means a lot.

Anyway, the purpose of my letter is to address the steps you've initiated with regards to the search for Cohasset's permanent Police Chief. It's nice to see you and Selectman McCarthy on the same page and the process finally moving forward. As you know, my last letter was about appointing Acting Police Chief William Quigley our permanent Chief and not embarking on "another costly national search."

Following a brief conversation we had last week, I have amended my overall opinion based on your points about fairness and process and you mentioning Cohasset's Fire Chief Robert Silvia. Normally showing a willingness to change one's mind is considered a positive but unfortunately for me changing my mind meant scrapping a really really funny article that I had already written; oh well.

Prior to our discussion I was firmly in the camp of "C'mon, appoint Bill Quigley and get it over with" but you were quite persuasive. While still opposed to the 'costly' aspect of a search, it makes sense that the Police Chief be vetted in the same manner the Fire Chief was. I believe we agreed that Silvia's hiring process would be a fair comparison. After 20 plus years as a member of Cohasset's Fire Department, Chief Silvia was hired in 2006 as the town's full time Fire Chief. With the help of the internet I was able to track down an old Cohasset Mariner article about the hiring that I think you'll find both interesting and helpful. For the record, my search for the article would have been considerably faster had I not spent so much time also researching possible free agent signings for the Red Sox; I don't think there's any chance Lester resigns with them, but I digress.

Robert Silvia was hired as Cohasset's permanent Fire Chief following a 1-2 month period in which he was the town's 'Acting' Fire Chief after Chief Lincoln had retired. Allow me to quote from Samantha Brown's 12/21/06 article to explain the process in which the town implemented. "(Then Town Manager Bill) Griffin, along with Director of Finance Michael Buckley, Selectman Fred Koed and Hingham Town Administrator Charles Cristello, served as the interviewing committee and chose six candidates to come in for interviews. Of those six, one pulled his name from contention minutes before his interview and a second failed to respond to the town's invitation, leaving four to interview. Those interviews were followed up with a final round for two candidates, and ultimately Silva was seen as the right candidate for the job.'

Following the recommendation to go with Silvia, the Board of Selectman waived their right to veto and Silvia was appointed. "I'm delighted with the appointment," said Selectmen Chairman Ralph Dormitzer. Vice Chairman Rob Spofford added, "This is a great day for Cohasset. I couldn't be happier with the appointment, and the town will be well served."

So to summarize, 'Acting' Chief Silvia was hired from a candidate pool of four finalists that were interviewed by an assembly of local officials who understood the needs and nuances of the town rather than a costly outside consultant. After reviewing a number of resumes and talking to a number of candidates the committee was impressed enough with Silvia and the job he had done as 'Acting' Fire Chief to hire him permanently. I'm pretty sure that we'd be hard pressed to find anyone who would say that the committee made the wrong selection.

A quick footnote regarding Chief Silvia's hiring that I found pretty interesting and I am sure you will too. In 1993, Chief Silvia's predecessor Chief Lincoln was promoted to "Acting" Fire Chief prior to being named Cohasset's permanent Fire Chief. The reason why he was prometed was that John Nadeau, the Chief the town hired via a national search in 1992, resigned after only a year on the job. Chief Lincoln who moved up the ranks served as Cohasset's Fire Chief for thirteen years.

The facts with regards to the Police Chief search are that the town has already shelled out thousands of dollars on the hiring process and the town has already engaged the services of an outside consultant. Cohasset does not need to spend any more money and like the Silvia hiring should trust the judgment of those who know our town best.

Fairness and process; what was so successful for our Fire Chief should be implemented for our Police Chief. If a fair process conducted by respected local officials hired a long time member of the Fire Department with two months experience as 'Acting' Chief, I am confident that the same process will look favorably on a long time member of the Police Department with two and half years experience as 'Acting' Chief. After all, 650+ residents, the Norfolk County in DA, Police Chiefs from our surrounding communities ... and the officers within the Cohasset Police Department can't all be wrong.

Good luck at the Town Meeting. Assuming that you haven't already made a decision, maybe you'll surprise us all by announcing that you've opted to save the citizens of Cohasset some money and will be implementing the same blue print that so successfully led to the hiring of Fire Chief Silvia.

Best regards, John McSheffrey As always, thanks for reading.

VETERANS DAY SPEECH

Strength to the Veterans of America

By Grayson Lord

Grayson, a fifthgrader, read her essay at the Deer Hill assembly and on Veterans Day.

Every morning, the children in America go to school. We learn, we write, we ask questions and we think. Our minds are actively growing, absorbing words and numbers like it is the air we breathe, yet children in some other countries don't go to school.

Everyday, an American citizen can speak up to the government. We can state our opinions and vote through democracy; determining a president or politician in the fairest way possible. We can speak up for what we believe in, because America is a country where every individual has a voice. A voice with power and strength. In some other countries, your voice must be silent.

Everyday a girl in America can stroll by herself and show her face to the people around her. She can vote, work, and learn like any other man Her rights are equal. In some other countries, women don't have these rights.

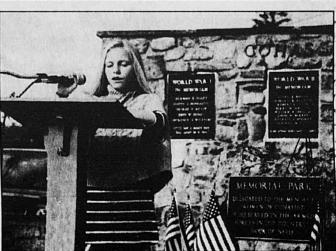

The reason why America is free and independent is largely because of our veterans. They fight with strength and courage, nope and wonder, and a passionate love for America. The freedom they have given us comes with sacrifices no human mind can imagine. Our veterans are willing to fight for freedom and peace in the hopes that they will march home with triumph and pride. A true veteran not only fights battles for America, but for countries who are not as fortunate as ours. Some countries don't have veterans, soldiers and armies. They are not protected like us. A veteran is admired so deeply because their hearts yearn for peace throughout the world. You'll watch men and women say goodbye to their families. You see them ride off to war on planes and boats. They say goodbye to the mountains, the plains, the farms, the oceans and their homes and families and prepare for challenges that may take their lives away. If you think about it, a decision like that is an act of pure selflessness.

Before, Presidents would draft soldiers eligible for war and make them go even if they didn't want to. Now, citizens leave for war because they choose to. Not only are the veterans affected while gone, but the families of the soldiers are too. Have you ever thought about families at home, praying, hoping and waiting for their moms, dads, sons and daughters to come home? Not knowing if you'd ever see the face of the ones you love most again, can change your life forever. A family with a veteran should always be proud of their accomplishments and courage, even if they have fallen while protecting us.

Day ceremony at the Cohasset Veterans Memorial Park

For centuries, America has aided other countries in a quest for peace. Day after day, month after month, and year after year, they never give up.

Strength is not what you may imagine it to be. You may think of huge, strong muscles or people lifting heavy weights, but that's not real strength. Strength is mentally and physically fighting through barriers built upon billions of bricks and stone. Strength is waving good-bye to the ones you love and watching your homes disappear as you inch further and further away. Strength is going off to war, knowing that the dusty atmosphere may be the last place you'll ever see. Mostly, strength rests inside the hearts of our veterans and their true, honor and dignity.

Protecting the people and showing the world

By Henry Griffin Henry, a fifth-grader, read his speech at the Deer Hill Assembly and on Veterans

We honor veterans because they gave their time, effort, and in some cases their lives to ensure the enduring safety of the USA. They have fought and we have a special day set aside for them, Veterans Day. It is the day when we celebrate all that the brave men and women of the armed forces have sacrificed for the safety of the American people and the whole of freedom worldwide. The US military is dedicated to preserving the safety for the United States of America, and keeping its citizens safe.

To be-a-veteran, you must have enlisted into the armed forces and taken the oath to defend the United States against all enemies. Yet some men and women take things a bit farther and not only serve their time, but also fight as hard as they can, trying to help as many people as possible, to keep the USA safe They gave us their time and work to make the USA a safer place for all of us. Veterans have courage, a good work ethic, and a willingness to defend the USA against all dangers, an indomitable will, and strength to keep fighting. They have defended the United States for over 200 years, and through 11 official wars and a few undeclared wars such as the invasion of Iraq, the attack on Al Qaeda, and most recently the battles with ISIL.

Veterans are the reason that the United States of America is the way it is today, a safe haven for all people, regardless of race or gender. Veterans, thank you.

The difference between Memorial Day and Veterans Day is that, on Memorial Day we celebrate all the soldiers who have passed away because of being in service to our great country in war or on a mission. On Veterans Day we celebrate the survivors of such conflicts, and some who have never seen combat before but defended our country by staying ever vigilant in service to the USA.

A person I would like to honor today is Jim Foley. Jim Foley was a freelance photojournalist in war zones. He took pictures of people in areas with Jim Foley was a freelance photojournalist in war zones. He took pictures of people in areas with intense conflict because the world needed to know how terrible it was there.

intense conflict because the world needed to know how terrible it was there. Jim Foley was not a soldier. He was not a politician. He was not a fighter of any kind. Yet he was murdered by ISIL for no reason other than the fact that he was American and that he tried to show the world the horrors the Syrian and Iraqi people went through during the war. Before going to Syria, Jim was in Libya, taking pictures of the hardships the Libyans had to go through under an oppressive military dictatorship and the civil war. He was captured, and eventually set free, although one of his coworkers was killed during the kidnapping. After his release from Libya, Jim started an auction that rose money for his deceased coworker's wife and children. After that, Jim entered Libya once again, this time to witness the military dictator Muammar Gaddafi's overthrow. Then Jim

went to Syria to videotape the mass chaos there. He was willing to go to the extremes to show the world the hardships that the Syrian people went through. One of his many qualities was that he was willing to do whatever it takes to help people. Jim once raised money to pay for an ambulance for a Syrian hospital. Jim Foley is not a veteran because he never was actually in military duty, active or reserve. He never even enlisted the military forces. But he was entrenched with soldiers, although not to fight, but to take pictures and videos to show the world what was happening. He showed the world how terrible the situation was in Syria, Libya, Iraq and Afghanistan. It is easy to forget that, while we, safe at home doing our own things brave people such as Jim were working hard to tell the stories of the people in war zones. He was not a veteran, but he demonstrated extraordinary bravery in the face of capture, torture, and death.

Another group that I would like to honor is the SWAT team that attempted to rescue Jim and other captives in Syria. I believe everyone who helped try to rescue Jim Foley deserves a thanks. Even though the mission was a failure, it shows the world our military's dedication to help Americans. All of the people involved in the rescue attempt were veterans. I would like to say to these people, "Thank you. You tried to save an innocent American who was trying to show the world the hardships of the Syrian people. Thank you for trying."

To all veterans: Thank you for preserving the liberty of the USA. You have fought hard and kept all outside enemies off of US grounds since 1812, and fighting against evil and corrupt governments and groups to preserve the freedoms of the world. For this the entire world is grateful. Thank you all.

To Jim and his fellow conflict journalists: Thank you for showing the world the hardships that people go through during wars and conflicts. EVENT PREVIEW

Ring in the season at the Festival of Wreaths Gala

By Deborah Cornwall

Many non-profit organizations host annual fundraising galas. We read about them year-round in our local newspapers. But the Sixth Annual Festival of Wreaths Gala presented by the Cancer Support Community will stand out among the crowd of holiday gatherings.

With the support of presenting sponsor, Fidelity Investments' Braintree Investment Center, this year's Gala celebrates the strength, resourcefulness, and resilience of people on the South Shore who have been impacted by cancer. It also celebrates the generosity of donors, who make it possible for CSC emotional support and educational services to be provided free of charge to participants, ensuring that no one needs to face cancer alone. Those services include professionally led support groups, educational workshops and mind-body classes, expressive arts, and Together these services help people impacted by cancer to learn vital skills for regaining control, reducing isolation, and restoring hope, regardless of the stage of their disease. People impacted by cancer can come together in shared activities with others who truly understand the day-today emotional and physical realities of living with a cancer diagnosis and its aftermath.

Celebrity host

This year's celebrity host is Scott Wahle of Hingham, who spent 10 years as morning anchor of WBZ-TV news before launching his own communications company, focusing on effective storytelling and coaching others to do the same. Scott is also a frequent visitor to the stage, performing in cabaret and musical theater, including performances with the Boston Pops and several leading roles with Reagle Music Theatre of Greater Boston.

Cancer is personal for Scott, having lost his father and sister to the disease, and he is pleased to be working with CSC-MSS to help others in his community. He will fulfill the roles of both event master of ceremonies and auctioneer.

THE HOUSE AND SENATE: There were no roll call votes in the House or Senate last week

This week, Beacon Hill Roll Call reports the percentage of times local representatives voted with their party's leadership in 2013 and 2014. The votes of the chamber's 29 Republicans were compared with those of GOP House Minority Leader Bradley Jones (R-North Reading). The votes of the chamber's 123 Democrats were compared to House Speaker Robert DeLeo (D-Winthrop). Beacon Hill Roll Call uses 429 votes from the 2013-2014 House session as the basis for this report. This includes all roll calls that were not quorum calls or on local issues.

There are 27 Democratic representatives who voted with DeLeo 100 percent of the time. The Democratic representatives who voted the lowest percentage of times with the DeLeo are Reps. Colleen Garry (D-Dracut), 71.0 percent; James Miceli (D-Wilmington), 78.5 percent; James Dwyer (D-Woburn), 83.9 percent; Stephen DiNatale (D-Fitchburg), 87.5 percent; Jonathan Zlotnik (D-Gardner), 88.5 percent; John Velis (D-Westfield), 89.3 percent; and Thomas Calter (D-Kingston), 89.5 percent. The other 116 Democrats all voted with DeLeo more than 90 percent of the time.

None of the 29 GOP members voted with Jones 100 percent of the time.

The GOP representatives who voted with Jones the lowest percentage of times are Reps. James Lyons (R-Andover), 87.4 percent and Marc Lombard (R-Billerica) 89.7 percent. The other 26 Republicans voted with Lyons more than 90 percent of the time.

ublicans voted with Jones more than 90 percent of the time

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES' PERCENTAGE OF VOTES SUPPORTING THEIR PARTY'S LEADERSHIP Here is how local representatives fared in their support of the leadership of their party on 429 roll calls.

The percentage next to the representative's name represents the percentage of times the representative supported his or her party's leadership.

The number in parentheses represents the number of times the representative opposed his or her party's leadership.

Some representatives voted on all 429 roll call votes. Others missed one or more of the 429 votes. The percentage for each representative is calculated based on the number of roll calls on which he or she voted and does not count the roll calls for which he or she was absent.

GOP GAINS SEATS IN HOUSE AND SENATE - When the dust settled on Election Day, the Republicans had gained two seats in the Massachusetts Senate and four seats in the House. The wins bring the number of GOP members in the House from 29 to 34 but the Democrats still have an overwhelming 126 seats. The GOP's Senate membership rose from four to six but the Democrats. rats still have a huge advantage with 34 seats in the upper chamber.

Only three incumbent legislators lost their races: challenger David DeCoste (R-Norwell) beat incumbent Rep. Rhonda Nyman (D-Hanover); Susannah Whipps Lee (R-Athol) defeated Rep. Denise Andrews (D-Orange); and Rep. Ryan Fattman (R-Webster) toppled Sen. Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge).

CITIES AND TOWNS FAVOR LEGALIZATION OF MARIJUANA - Voters in 56 Massachusetts cities and towns approved local non-binding ballot questions asking if they favor making recreational marijuana legal. Public policy questions like this can be put on the ballot in all the cities and towns in a state senate district by collecting 1,200 signatures of registered voters and in a state representative district by collecting 200 signatures. For more information on the procedure, go to http://www.sec.state.ma.us/ele/elepdf/2014-Public-Policy-Question-Petitions-brochure.pdf REPORT DRIVERS WITH SUSPENDED LICENSES (H 4521) - The House gave initial approval to a bill requiring the Registry of Motor Vehicles to notify the local police department when the driver's license of a local resident is suspended or revoked. The notification is only required when the offense is a specific crime committed by the offender including vehicular homicide and drunken driving, and if the person is a habitual traffic offender or poses an immediate threat to public safety. Included in the notification would be the offender's name, address, license plate number, type of car and driving record. ber, type of car and driving record.

Supporters said this would enable local police to spot and track drivers who are driving without a license. They noted this could prevent injuries and even save lives.

ACCOSTING AND ANNOYING (S 2362) - The House gave initial approval to a Senate-approved bill that would change a current law that makes it illegal to annoy or accost people of the opsite sex with behavior that is deemed offender and/or disorderly. The bill would allow the charges to be brought even if the victim was a person of the same sex.

Supporters, noting this is an antiquated law, said the bill is aimed at sex offenders who target children regardless of gender. They cited an incident in Bellingham in which a male offender acted young boys but the charges were dismissed because under current law, it is only a crime when it is against the opposite sex.

GEOGRAPHY EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS (S 2248) - The House gave initial approval to a Senate-approved measure creating a Commission on Geography Education to assess the status of graphy education in all the Bay State's public schools. The commission would be charged with making recommendations to improve geography education and filing them with the Legislature Secondary 13, 2015. HOMELESS YOUTH UNDER AGE 24 (H 4517) - The House gave initial approval to a bill creating a commission to study and make recommendations to provide adequate resources for uncompanied homeless youth under the age of 24. The state would then enter into contracts with organizations and agencies to provide housing and support services to address the unique needs

Supporters said there are thousands of youths who are living on their own without adequate food and shelter. They argued there is desperate need for increased housing and shelter options and noted homelessness often leads to poor health, exposure to violence, susceptibility to exploitation, high-risk behaviors and a dependence on public systems and benefits.

LOCAL HOUSING AUTHORITIES (H 4374) - A law effective November 3 makes changes in the regulation of local housing authorities. Provisions include establishing performance benchmarks, requiring for board members and executive directors, requiring an annual report from each authority, mandating annual audits by independent auditors and allowing a tenant a Supporters say the new law will increase transparency, accountability and efficiency and establish new roles for tenants in the governing of their local housing authorities.

MEETING

called on Sept. 10. Townspeople then had seven days to submit any petitioned articles, according to town bylaw.

Two of the petitioned articles concerning the new Senior Center at 91 Sohier Street, number 15 and 16 in the warrant, are being dealt with in Article 6, which was added by the selectmen.

While the petitioned articles asked Town Meeting to lease the Senior Center and also purchase various items for the building, including furnishings and kitchenware, the selectmen decided a due diligence study was needed to determine short-term and long-term costs for occupying the new building, which is currently under construction but scheduled to be completed by December.

Article 6 covers the due diligence study for the building, the results of which are due to the selectmen by the end of January.

Other highlights in the warrant:
Article 1 asks voters to approve amendments to Article 1 asks voters to approve amendments to the current fiscal year 2015 budget, including $53,000 for hydrant fees to Cohasset Water and $20,000 for veterans' services costs.

Article 2 concerns unpaid bills from previous fiscal years, from a $39 police uniform to $53,000 for FY14 hydrant fees.

Article 3 deals with the capital improvements budget, asking for a $7000 dump truck for the Dept. of Public Works, which was approved by the April 2014 Annual Town Meeting; $14,168 for police cruiser radios; and $41,420 for a DPW pick-up truck with a plow.

Article 5, the allocation for one-time costs, deals with the appropriation of Free Cash, which is certified by the Dept. of Revenue. Town Manager Chris Senior suggests divvying it up accordingly: $100,000 for road repairs and maintenance; $50,000 for facilities projects and equipment; $30,000 for streetlight expenses; $15,000 for an analysis of town departmental space needs; $30,000 for facility rental services, which could pertain to the Senior Center; and $150,000 to repair and repaint the inside of the wastewater treatment plant.

Article 7 asks for a transfer from the water department's capital stabilization fund of $100,000 to pay the 2015 debt service, along with $15,000 to replace a section of the water plant's roof.

Article 8, which also comes from the Water Commission, was voted on by the selectmen last week, and barely squeaked by the board with a 3-2 approval. This article asks Town Meeting to amend the water department's meter policy, charging a capital recovery charge of $90 per quarter for every unit receiving the town's water service. The fee will be assessed starting with the

Feb. 1, 2015 billing cycle.

The selectmen were split on the article last week, and those against it wanted the water department to use the money collected from the proposed fees placed into a stabilization fund to pay off future debts. The board considered adding an amendment to the article asking for the water commission to do this, but ended up voting on the article as worded; the vote remained 3-2, with selectmen Steve Gaumer and Karen Quigley voting against recommendation.

Selectman Kevin McCarthy, who voted in favor of recommending the article, wanted to keep the wording the same for Town Meeting, since it's mere days away.

After the board already discussed and voted the article at prior meetings, said McCarthy, trying to vote an amendment, "with none of us fully understanding what we're doing... That's always a prescription for regret later on... This has not been properly vetted and it's pretty late in the game to be making a change."

Another matter the selectmen are still up in the air on is Article 10, which seeks to establish an Elder Affairs revolving fund. The board decided to hold off on voting until the Advisory Committee opines on the article, which would happen during the committee's Thursday, Nov. 13 meeting (after the Mariner's publication deadline).

Council on Elder Affairs chairman Paul Kierce asked the board for clarity on why the matter had been delayed until Wednesday night's meeting, when the article did not seem all that complicated. "Tons of departments have revolving funds," said Kierce. "We set up revolving funds all the time... why is it so difficult?"

Gaumer said that the Advisory board was waiting for more information on a cap for the fund, and the selectmen were waiting on Advisory's input. "When it comes to finances, we will defer until we hear from the appropriate finance committee," said Gaumer.

Town Manager Chris Senior explained that, according to Town Counsel, an Elder Affairs revolving fund is handled differently than other similar funds. "The ones we have are set up under a different section of law that doesn't require an annual review," said Senior.

Language in the law referring to an "annual town meeting" suggested that the Elder Affairs fund might have to be voted on during the spring ATM, although Senior said that isn't necessarily the case—it could mean any annual town meeting, and Special Town Meeting is also annual.

Selectmen chair Diane Kennedy thought the "case" might make a big difference.

"Lowercase though it may be, it's really Annual Town Meeting when we're setting the budget for the subsequent" fiscal year, Kennedy explained.

The selectmen will meet at 6 p.m. on Monday to discuss article 10, as well as article 14, the citizens' petition, the latter may prove the trickiest for the board since it involves litigation of a previous board #### of selectmen. Citizens petition

Article 14 asks the town to reimburse over $9000 to selectman Martha Gjesteby for legal expenses incurred in her defense against a conflict of interest complaint filed against her by the then board of selectmen in January 2013. Gjesteby later filed an Open Meeting Law violation against the rest of the board; the State Ethics Commission decided to take no further action.

Tom Gruber, the lead petitioner, attended Wednesday night's meeting and read an amended version of the article than what's in the warrant;

the new wording asks for the $9000 to come out of Free Cash. "It makes it much simpler for the town to address the issue," said Gruber.

The selectmen were wary to even discuss the article, and Gjesteby recused herself from the discussion. Kennedy said that while she was on the 2013 board of selectmen that was involved in this legal matter, she spoke to town counsel and learned that she did not need to recuse herself from discussion since she would have no "fiduciary gain" at stake.

However, Kennedy explained the board may have to invoke the "rule of necessity" to even weigh in on the matter, because members of the board could have "material interest."

"It's crazy complicated law, but we all have financial stake now if we're compensating someone for a certain amount of money," said Kennedy, adding that she would like to get more information from town counsel before the board votes on recommending the article or not.

Gaumer was asked to meet with Senior and find out from town counsel how the board should proceed. In the meantime, Gaumer told Gruber that he would like to see an itemized bill and work order detailing how the $9000 tab came to be.

"The town being asked to pay a bill; I want to know what the bill is for," said Gaumer. "I don't think that's unreasonable."

Gruber said that the bill has not been given to the selectmen because it contains confidential information that "mentions places, names, and specifics not appropriate to release to the public." Gaumer countered that these specifics could be redacted.

Quigley said that while she was also uncomfortable with the compensation discussion, she feels a town official should have some protections and be able to go to town counsel for

While Quigley was not on the board at the time the incident took place, she said that she followed the issue, "sitting out there during selectmen's meetings," which took place in open session, when "a group of elected officials told another elected official they were going to bring criminal charges against that individual."

If Quigley had been in Gjesteby's position, she said, "I would seek legal defense... if counsel works for the elected board then he cannot argue against himself... The fact that in open session town counsel advised those elected officials that the other elected official had not broken the law... this is what I heard sitting in the audience," said Quigley.

Kennedy cut off further discussion of the details. "I don't want to go there... it's turning into a 'he said, she said,' and we don't have the minutes in front of us," said Kennedy.

With regards to Monday's Town Meeting vote, Senior said that town counsel told him the bill could be paid one of two ways: as an unpaid bill from a previous year, or as compensation to Gjesteby.

Skippers head to Millis for South Final tonight

By William Wassersug wwassersug @wickedlocal.com

For a second straight season, the Cohasset High School football team has won its way to the MIAA Division 6 South championship game, with an invitation to Gillette Stadium on the line. Last year, Cohasset won the South, and made the trip to Gillette, where they were overwhelmed by a whirlwind of a team from Littleton. Along the way to Gillette Stadium, the Skippers faced Millis-Hopedale in a game that gave Cohasset a battle. This season, many of the faces have changed, but one thing is certain - win the game and there will be another trip to Foxboro. Cohasset coach Pete Afanasiw knows it won't be easy. At this point in the season, especially in the playoffs, nothing comes easy, and past and even recent performances are just that. While Cohasset has overwhelmed playoff opponents 111-10 this postseason, the Skippers will be in for a huge battle on the road against an opponent with a raucous home crowd that has been similarly dominating. In the playoffs, Millis (6-2), the No. 4 seed, has beaten Pope John Paul II 30-12, and Mashpee, 42-26. The Mohawks have also beaten Dover-

Sherborn 34-0 on the road and Greater New

Bedford RVT 40-0.

The team's two losses

were at East Bridgewater,

49-16 and Ashland 13-6.

The Skippers beat

Mashpee 28-0 in the final regular season

likely come down to basics. We know we have our work cut out for us, but that has not stopped them down previously," Afanasiw said about tonight's battle. "We are expecting Millis to try and pound the ball at us. They are a considerably larger team and it is our estimation that they will try to play some smash-mouth football. I also, think we are pretty good at that, so it should come down to which team makes the fewest mistakes, and which team can out perform and out-execute the other." Defense will be key. "I think our number one priority is tackling their running back every play, he has numerous long TD runs this season," Afanasiw said of star back Josh Pierre-Charles, who ran for 263 yards and four touchdowns on 19 carries against Mashpee. In the team's eight games, he had 1,460 yards and 20 touchdowns, bolstered by an outstanding offensive line. "Secondly, our offense needs to sustain drives and score when the opportunity arises, and our special teams needs to continue to give both our offense and defense solid field position." In recent games, the Skippers have been getting the

Vengeance can be sweet, and when it happens on the biggest stage, it can be even tastier. That might be the feeling for the SciCoh Fourth Grade Sharks football team after they won the biggest game of the season on Sunday - the Super Bowl. The Fourth Graders beat previously undefeated Marshfield 26-14 on Sunday to win the Division 1 OCYFL Super Bowl, avenging their only loss of the season two weeks earlier to end Marshfield's undefeated season.

The championship was a giant accomplishment, and one head coach Jim Smith (Cohasset) appreciated and will remember, as will the kids on the team.

"This was a special group of kids," Smith said. "They took pride in their team all year and held themselves accountable to not let their teammates down. When we lost to Marshfield in the season finale, we knew we could beat them if we had a second shot at them."

Smith felt his squad had an advantage in the rematch.

Fast start propels Skippers into title game

By John R. Johnson

Last year the Cohasset High football team ran off four consecutive playoff victories before losing in the Division 6 state final. The Skippers are in the midst of a similar run this season. Cohasset pinned a 28-7 defeat on Bishop Connolly in the Div. 6 South Sectional semifinals on Friday night, earning a trip to the title game. The sixth-seeded

4 Millis-Hopedale (6-2). "We had high expectations coming into the season and we want to continue to succeed," said Cohasset coach Pete Afanasiw. "Hopefully, we'll be able to bring it home." If the Skippers needed any extra momentum, they got it from honorary game captain Cpl. Craig Knight of Pembroke, who just returned from seven months of service in Afghanistan. Knight is the son of Cohasset assistant coach Jeff Knight. Cohasset got off to a fast start by scoring on the opening drive. Taking the ball near

Skippers (7-2) will face No. midfield, quarterback Danny in the first half on a 1-yard a 9-yard touchdown pass Axelson connected with Jack Donohue for a 26-yard completion to the Cougars' 26. Junior running back Nick Hall carried twice to get the Skippers inside the end zone, the last rush covering 13 yards. Henry Butenschoen added the point-after. The Skippers pushed the lead to 14-0 midway through the second quarter when Axelson found Mike Lund for a 19-yard scoring strike. Senior captain Tim Gillis keyed the drive with a pair of 15-yard runs. No. 7 Bishop Connolly (6-3) got on the board late run by sophomore back Jay McClure to bring the Cougars within a touchdown at 14-7. Cohasset had allowed only three points total in its previous four games. The Skippers almost punched in another score after Adam Benson returned the ensuing kickoff 35 yards, and a penalty pushed the ball further to the Bishop Connolly 30. Cohasset's drive, however, stalled at the 15. Cohasset took a 21-7 lead with 3:01 left in the third quarter when Brett Dooley, one of Cohasset's defensive stalwarts, hauled in from Axelson. The score was set up by Gillis, who gained 50 yards during the drive. Gillis rushed for 88 yards in the game. The Skippers scored their final touchdown 90 seconds later after Chris Norton recovered a Bishop Connolly fumble at the Cougars' 48-yard line. Benson handled a reverse and headed toward the left sideline for a 48-yard touchdown. Cohasset was 0-4 all-time in the playoffs before last year's run. The Skippers are now 6-5 in the postseason. "The program has been in so it's pretty impressive to see what these guys have. done the last two seasons, to bring football back to rel-, evance and to get the town, excited again," said Afanasiw, "I thought overall we made a lot more mistakes than they did," said Bishop Connolly, coach Justin Kogler. "Cohas-set is a very polished team, and very well-coached, and I. think we just made too many, mistakes. We only have two, seniors on our roster and I'm, very proud of the way the kids played all season long. We just ran into a better team tonight."

National signing day

By William Wassersug wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

Wednesday was National Signing Day for students signing National Letters of Intent for Division 1 college sports.

Cohasset had a nice showing as three athletes signed letters in a ceremony at Cohasset High School.

For the Skippers, Tim Gillis signed to play lacrosse at Fairfield, while Cole Kissick will play lacrosse at Richmond. Both were members of the Cohasset High School varsity lacrosse team that won the State Championship in the spring. Both are also running backs on the football team, which is playing for the South title on Friday night.

Emma Davis will be headed to Wake Forest to play tennis. Davis helped the girls tennis team to a Sectional title this season, and was also a three-time MIAA Individual State Champion.

Saints continue hot streak

South Coastal Hockey League roundup

Mark Ducharme

The Saints are one of the hottest teams in both divisions of the South Coastal Hockey League.

They have used three different goalies during their five game winning streak and two of them have posted shutouts in their Legends Div. game.

Tom Andrade came up with 25 saves and Todd Roach scored with 4:40 left to give the Saints a 1-0 win over the Sharks for their fifth straight win.

The Leafs have the longest winning streak in either division though. They had six different goal scorers in their 6-4 Classics Div. win over the Bruins.

Joe McCafferty had a goal and two assists, while Dave the Leafs. Jim Bristol, Kevin Ryan and Marshfield's Dave Norwell's Don Studley and Joe Greene had two assists apiece for the Leafs.

Tom Hickie of Pembroke, Pat Sherry, Hanover's Peter Fallon Steve Fay scored the goals for the Bruins.

The Red Wings are 5-1-1 in their last games after they got two goals from Marshfield's Ron DiCecca in their 5-1 win over Black Hawks in a Classics Div. game. Brian Hurcombe of Pembroke had a goal and an assist, Scott Mondeau and Pete DelPrete of Hanover added a goal each for the Wings, while Jim Marcella of Abington scored for the Hawks. Tom Powers scored a goal and assisted on another, Matt Clancy , Tim McCrystal and Marshfield's Brian Kennedy added a goal each Salvaggio and Jeff Gauthier as the Canadiens held on for added goal and two assists for 4-3 Classics Div. win over the Rangers.

John Sances had a goal and Evans scored a goal each, two assists, Lou Sideropoulds and Jim Hutchinson scored a goal apiece for the Rangers.

Hingham's Nate Rasmussen broke a 2-2 tie with 3:16 left in the game to give the Crusaders a 3-2 win over the Whalers in a Legends Div. matchup. Marshfield's Chris Harrington had a goal and an assist, Mike Simon scored a goal and Jim Callahan had two assists for the Crusaders

John Guilderson and Norwell's Mike Verrochi scored the Whalers goals.

Jim Holmes of Pembroke Dave Currier and Norwell Peter Cleary each scored goal as the Toros rallied from a 3-0 second period deficit for a 3-3 tie with the Stingers.

Pete Tamborella and Ken Wingate both of Pembroke and Chris Poudrier scored the goals for the Stingers.

the semifinal on Tuesday at Barnstable High School.

The win sends the No. 2 seeded Skippers (17-2-1) back to the Sectional Final, where they'll face No. 4 Archbishop Williams (12-3-3) Sunday at 12:15 p.m. at Taunton High School.

Archbishop Williams advances after knocking off No. 1 Holbrook 3-0 (17-3-0) in the semifinal game of the 11-team bracket.

"It was a great game," Cogas-set coach Jim Willis said of his squad's 1-0 win over Nantucket. "We had a rocky first half. It was up and down. The Nantucket defense carried the possession in the first half. We were't connecting passes."

That changed when the Skippers got on the board in the 21st minute of the first half for a 1-0 lead that was a bit of a confidence boost.

Matt Legge did the honors for the Skippers.

"It was a beautiful goal off a corner kick," Willis said. "Sam Morris had the corner and Matt connected from about a foot out."

In the early part of the game, Cohasset had trouble with Nantucket's tall goalie, but found just the right spot on the goal. It was definitely a turning point.

"After the goal we controlled possession," Willis said. "We couldn't get an insurance goal, but we controlled the possession and minimized their chances."

The Skippers had faced the Whalers this season.

"We've had Nantucket on our radar," Willis admitted. "We beat them 2-1 Columbus Day at our place. They're one of the best teams we've seen in the tourney. We knew they'd be good. They won the Cape and the Islands League. They've got quick, skilled kids up front and a big goalie. When you combine those things you know it was going to be a big challenge."

Willis was extremely pleased with Morris.

"Sam Morris was the MVP of the day," he said. "It felt like he was the best player on the field. He was all over the place. The defense was great too."

In net, Pat Federle had another solid performance.

"Pat had two big stops in the first half," Willis said. "In the second half most of the shots were from the outside. In the first half they put pressure on us. I think we had more depth and they ran out of gas."

Willis said his team and style are different from last

"I'm good," he said when asked his feelings about his team. "We've made some changes from last year. Every game was so tight last year. We were pinching ourselves just being there. It was new. This year we've been careful and prepared. We're playing our best right now. That's good."

One difference this season is external.

The games have been spread apart," Willis said. "Last year we were playing or practicing every day. This year we've stayed busy and played some good scrimmages, but there's been a lot of time between games. I've been able to give the guys a little rest and a few of the kids who were banged up are back and healthy now.

production in all phases of the game, and that will be

"A total team effort will be needed in beating a good team," Afanasiw said. "Neither team will have the luxury of affording many mistakes." For the Skippers offense, Tim Gillis has stepped up big-time after Cole Kissick was injured early in the season, and quarterback Danny Axelson has played well, especially when it comes to not making costly mistakes but on the whole, it has been a team effort overall. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

"It actually took all the pressure off us as we had nothing to lose going into the playoffs," he said. "The coaches made a number of adjustments during the week and we played our best football of the season in the playoffs. These kids are great boys and no matter what happens going forward, they will always be Super Bowl Champions."

The Sharks got things going right from the start when Joey Cannon returned he opening kickoff, an onside kick attempt, 50 yards to paydirt to get the Sharks on the board quickly.

Marshfield responded with a drive to Scituate's 23 yard-line, but stalled on downs.

The Sharks took advantage with a 77-yard drive to take a 14-0 lead. Joey Cannon scooped up a Walter Rosher fumble and ran one yard into the end zone to cap the drive, which featured outstanding runs by Rosher and quarterback Will Chatterton.

After the second half kickoff, the SciCoh defense again held Marshfield and took over the ball at Marshfield's 38-yard line. Rosher punched the ball in from 2 yards out to make the score

After Marshfield cut the score to 20-8 early in the fourth quarter, the Sharks again drove 60 yards to seal the game. Rosher took the ball 39 yards to the Marshfield 1 yard line and Will Chatterton punched it in for the final SciCoh touchdown. Rosher ended the game with 152 yards on 18 carries and Chatterton carried the ball 9 times for 49 yards. The SciCoh offense was he Curry College MBA prepares working professionals to become strategic decision-makers and effective organizational leaders. Students benefit from team-based learning and gain valuable consulting experience through a unique capstone project.

The capstone is an applied research project where students, working as a team of consultants, partner with a business to solve specific challenges facing the organization. The project concludes with the cohort providing a compelling business presentation to the sponsoring organization. Past business partners include Simpson Spring, GreenPages Technology So-lutions, JP Fuji Group, Trio Wine Company, Climate Counts, Polartec, EMD Mil-

The Curry capstone students proved to be topnotch consultants for us, says Catherine Marshall, director of Global Business Development for Reebok. "We were extremely lucky to have such bright individuals at our disposal to contribute to our brand."

For its capstone project, the Summer 2014 cohort of MBA students worked with Canton-based Reebok to increase its presence and market share in the crowded marketplace of athletic apparel competitors.

As part of the capstone project, Curry students re-ceived an inside look at Reebok's re-branding efforts - including the launch of a new logo. Reebok's "Delta" logo symbolizes the brand's mission to help people change for the better and be the best version of themselves through fitness.

Reebok believes that living a fit life creates positive physical, mental and social changes - each of which are represented by the three independent sides of the "Delta."

A key recommendation by the Curry MBA students was that Reebok "reelaunch" its logo in order to capitalize on the associated branding and to ensure that consumers are aware of the change. The cohort illustrated ways in which Reebok could maximize their new logo, and what it stands for. The cohort showcased how social media offers multiple opportunities to present the new brand to

The agreement between the two schools allows qualified Assumption students preferred admission into the M.S. in Organizational and Professional Communication program at Regis and the opportunity to complete a master's degree in one year.

"Accelerating my master's degree through the five-year program allowed me to not only extend my academic knowledge as an undergrad-

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment of public relations specialists is projected to grow 12 percent from 2012 to 2022. Advanced communications professionals are needed in all specialty areas not limited to public relations but including journalism, editorial and marketing. A graduate level education in communications prepares graduates to be leaders in their chosen discipline.

The cost savings is estimated at $4,200, which includes waiving the application fee. Qualified Assumption students are eligible for six credits applied to the Graduate Communications program at Regis with completion of two identified Assumption undergraduate courses with a grade of B or

"The accelerated programs can save students thousands of dollars in tuition and prepare them sooner for the job market with the advantage of earning a higher salary."

Regis also offers many courses as hybrids, integrating the iPad to respond to the diverse needs of graduate students. According to Skarbek, "the hybrid courses provide an innovative way of learning, reinforced inside and outside of the classroom through an online initiative, while also giving me time to pursue career goals and my Master's degree simultaneously."

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the first graduation of students from the Regis Master's in Organizational and Professional Communications program, and 25 years since the first undergraduate communication majors graduated.

Lifelong learning is not just an option in today's economy - it's a necessity for survival. Organizations that want to stay on the cutting edge of innovation must attract, cultivate and invest in their employees. Worcester Polytechnic Institute delivers world-wide graduate-level education and professional training to organizations and their employees. These educational programs primarily focus on various areas of engineering, science and business. Among a company's most valuable assets are educated and well-trained employees. WPI's professors and teaching staff are not only expert educators, but experts in business and industry.

Greg Angelini, director of Electrical Design and Engineering with Electric Boat, stated that "Engineers improve their contribution to the Electric Boat team through advanced education. At the same time, an investment in personal development helps our employees achieve their career goals. We especially support this WPI master's program, because these specialized skills are both rare and in high demand.

Engineering is one of the highest paid fields of work. Sixty two percent of the current energy industry workforce will need to be replaced by 2020. A master's degree in Electrical Engineering is the highest paying discipline, as $121,000.

Those in the Fire Protection Engineering field have impressive salaries as well, with 4,910 engineering jobs to be added to Fire Prevention and Fire Protection by 2018. Here's a sampling of typical salaries in the field:

- · Fire service: $92,000-$112,500 per year · Government: $67,464-$140,134 per year
- Insurance: $115,000-$182,500 per year
- · Consulting: $62,400-$150,000 per year

At WPI, engineering students may follow many areas of study. Here's a sampling of the college's offerings:

- Manufacturing and Materials Engineering
- Power Systems Engineering
- · Technical and Professional Workshops Systems Engineering - ranked as the No. 1 Best Job in America by CNNMoney
- · Mechanical Engineering · Data Science
- · Cyber Security

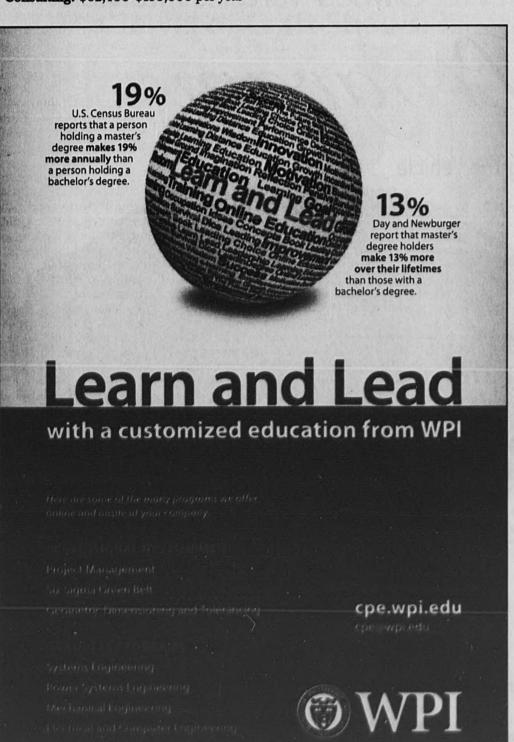

For more than 30 years, WPI has been a leader in online delivery of education to students around the world. Our highly rated online programs integrate the latest technologies in video, simulations, virtual chat and discussion boards to bring you a complete educational experience when you cannot be, or prefer not to be, on campus. The WPI online learning experience offers flexibility, real-world application, faculty who are industry experts, networking opportunities and dedicated student support.

At WPI, graduate students may study online in the following subject areas:

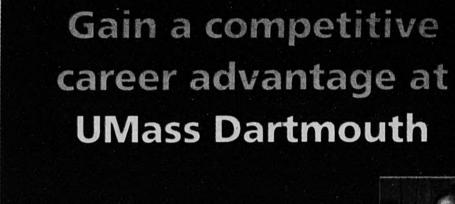

- · Electrical and Computer Engineering
- Environmental Engineering
- · Mechanical Engineering
- Power Systems Engineering
- · Robotics Engineering-Nation's 1st Online Master of Science in Robotics Engineering
- System Dynamics Systems Engineering

year! To commemorate this milestone, the South Shore Community Center is raffling off an opportunity for a local family to be part of the event. You and your family will meet Santa personally and accompany him and Mrs. Claus as they journey across Cohasset Harbor in Santa's boat, arriving at Government Island to a cheering throng of fans & friends. Once on dry land, you will all be escorted to a waiting Clydesdale Horse drawn hay wagon, which will lead the holiday parade through the town to the SSCC. There will be music provided by the Rusty Skippers band and tons of fun for your entire family.

Tickets are $10 each or 3 for $25 and may be purchased at the SSCC Office or you may purchase your tickets online at: southshorecommunitycenter.

GIMME SHELTER

An affectionate girl looking for love

By Casey Fredette

Missy is a special beauty! She is a real stunner. Simply seeing her will prove all of that and more. Her giant, dark green eyes will stop you in your tracks from across a room. As if that wasn't enough of a selling point, Missy is a true lover cat; once she has you stopped, she pounces to action, right into your lap or arms. Any way she can cuddle up to people, it doesn't matter to her, so long as she gets what she wants... attention and affection. It doesn't seem like very much to ask for: a home, a family, warmth, and love. Missy had all of this for a long time. More than likely she never thought she'd be on her own. But, sadly, here she is.

Missy has always been an indoor cat, having her needs met consistently. Sadly, Missy's owners changed all of that. After a lifetime of comfort and safety Missy was turned out on her own, all of her safety and comfort gone! With no survival skills developed and no knowledge of what the outdoors was like, Missy found herself alone and in danger. Imagine having your world turned on its head the way Missy's was;

it's not a pleasant thought.
After being rescued, Missy was brought to the shelter.
Many times cats from situations such as this are given a few weeks to adjust and adapt back to life indoors.
Missy was not one of those cats; she immediately sprung into affection-seeking mode, doing everything she could to interact with people and the other cats.

Sound too good to be true? Come meet Missy and see for yourself. Open hours are Monday 6:30-7:30 pm and Saturday 2-3 pm. Have questions? Call Judy adoption coordinator at 781-534-4902 to find out more about Missy or any of our other cats or kittens.

Our monthly Spay Day will be Monday, Nov. 24th. If you're interested in having your cat or kitten altered by the Animal Rescue League's Spay Waggin', call Casey, Shelter Manager, at 781-925-3121 or email Hsar@ verizon.net to reserve a spot. Spay Day appointments are scheduled on a first come, first serve basis so book yours now before it is filled to capacity.

DISHING IT OUT

Riva in Scituate Harbor

By Kristi Funderburk kfunderburk@wickedlocal.com

We're dishing it out at Riva in Scituate Harbor this week where guests become part of the family as they dine on fresh, local top-rated meals in the comfortable Front Street restaurant.

Name of staff and osition?

Kara Tondorf, co-owner.

What is your connection to the South Shore?

I grew up in Scituate, left after high school. I lived in Boston, Louisiana, and Nashville and returned in November 2012 to be closer to the restaurant and family.

Tell us about your location

and what you love about it?

I love being in Scituate Harbor. It's one of the most charming harbors I've ever seen (I'm not biased or anything).

What sets you apart from other restaurants?

We have very good food and you can have a nice romantic dinner in our dining room or still enjoy the menu in the bar, which is more casual. My personal favorite type of restaurant is a place where you can get a top-rated meal, select a wine from a great wine list but still be able to be casual.

How does being a family business affect how you operate the restaurant?

I don't know any different because it's been family mussels and the braised

Executive Chef Michael Tondorf adds the finishing touches to the braised beef dish.

See food online!

Watch Riva chef and co-owner Michael Tondorf, whip up some savory creations at his popular Front Street restaurant in Scituate. Check out the video section on the homepage of your Wicked Local website.

from the beginning. It's nice to know that we have each other's backs and it helps that we know each other so well.

What should customers expect when they come to visit?

We are huge on service. We want everyone to feel like part of the family. We encourage all of our staff to be warm and welcoming to our guests.

What's the most popular item on the menu and what are some other favorites?

There are several. I've had multiple people say the vegetable lasagna is the best thing they've ever had. People return over and over for the beef short ribs. The chicken broccoli is another favorite. Michael (my brother) usually does wonders with the salmon, which changes seasonally.

What is your food philosophy?

Our food philosophy is about buying fresh and buying responsible. You don't see many cans at Riva. We get produce and seafood delivered daily. We try to buy and serve food that is as local as possible.

About Riva: Located at 116 Front St., in Scituate Harbor, Riva is open seven days a week at 5 p.m. and serves brunch starting at the restaurant's most popular dishes, braised beef ribs over taglietelle pasta. WICKED LOCAL STAFF PHOTOS / MARK GARDNER

Executive Chef Michael Tondorf, co-owner of Riva in Scituate, finishes up the braised beef ribs in the kitchen.

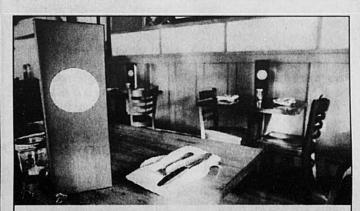

8 a.m. on Sundays. The kitchen is open until 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 9 p.m. every other day. The bar is open until 1 a.m. on weekends and 10:30-11 p.m. during the week depending on how busy they are. The restaurant has outdoor seating. Catering and space for functions is available. Entrees range from $9 to $17 for lunch and $19 to $29 for dinner. To make a reservation or for more information, call 781-545-5881 or visit www. rivarestaurant.com.

Ite dishes served at Riva in Scituate.

One of Riva's many charms is the intimate, simplydecorated dining area that resembles a Mediterranean bistro.

Riva is situated on Front Street in downtown Scituate and has a bar area in the back of the building as well as an intimate dining room to the front.

porary musical "Songs For A New World," music and lyrics by Jason Robert Brown, at 7:30 p.m., on Nov. 14, 15, 21 and 22 and 2 p.m., on Nov. 16 and 23, at Cohasset Town Hall stage. The experienced cast of 11 actors and singers are drawn from throughout the Greater Boston communy, under the music direction of

by Lisa Pratt. "Songs For A New World" is a combination of musical theater and song cycle that weave together an overarching theme of self-discovery. Whether hopeful, heartbreaking, funny or shocking, each song presents its own story using a variety of music styles including jazz, gospel and pop. From the bow of Spanish sailing ship, to Park Avenue, the North Pole, a prison cell and more, the show takes from start to finish. "Bringing 'Songs For A New World' to Cohasset has been on our 'to-do' list for quite some time," said CDC president, Lisa Pratt. "We felt this was the

its audience on a journey

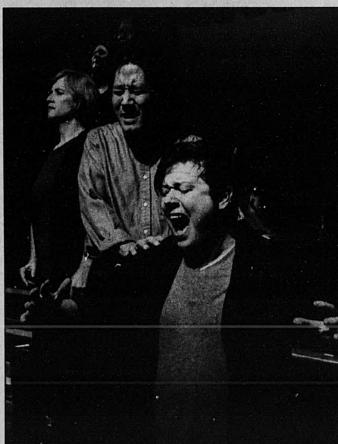

Cohasset Dramatic Club right moment to create a cast which could deliver the challenging vocal lines, tight harmonies and strong storytelling this show demands. This groundbreaking work is very popular and we are excited to bring it to Cohasset and our expanding audience of followers."

CDC's "Songs For A New World" cast includes: Ann McCoy of Hingham, Jose Merlo of Brockton, Michelle Margulies of Natick, Anne Thornton of Hanover, Anthony Light, Kelly Marshall and Greg Webber of Weymouth, and Barbara Baumgarten, Mike Nakashima and Lisa Pratt of Cohasset.

Tickets are $20 general admission and available at the door or in advance at Paperscapes and Buttonwood Books & Toys, Cohasset, or online at www.brownpapertickets. com/event/820838. Single ticket and group reservations are available by calling the box office at 617-922-0280. "Songs For A New World" is presented through special arrangement with Music Theatre International. ## Pumpkin not just for desserts

From pie to pudding, pumpkin often gets relegated to dessert dishes, but the gourd can add seasonal flavor — and a punch of nutrition — to any meal. The squash that's synonymous with autumn is also packed with vitamins, fiber and protein, making it a perfect ingredient for a variety of dishes.

Better breakfast:
Try giving some popular breakfast foods the pumpkin treatment.
Protein bars, granola and scones all benefit from the addition of pumpkin. Incorporating the squash into breakfast can be as simple as adding a few tablespoons of pumpkin puree, some pumpkin pie spice and chopped pecans to your morning oatmeal.

Making it your main squash: Whether you're whipping up a hearty batch of pumpkin chili to warm your family on chilly fall days, or adding it for color and flavor to a shrimp curry, pumpkin works either as an ingredient or the star of the show. You can also use pumpkin to replace the ricotta in lasagna, creating a nutritious, flavorful and vegan variation on this popular dish.

Exciting treats: You don't have to shell out $4 per cup for a pumpkin spice latte. Just make your own latte at home and add a couple table-spoons of pumpkin puree and a dash of pumpkin pie spice.

Hearty healthy

all is the perfect time for hearty soups. A steaming bowlful pairs wonderfully with a crisp salad and a crusty piece of bread. This soup recipe fills the bill. It's a variation of caldo gallego, the Spanish soup with potatoes, dried beans, greens and sausages. Here, small cubes of butternut squash replace the potatoes and canned white beans are used instead of dried. For the sausage, the choice is up to you. We've made it with pork, chicken and turkey sausages and even breakfast links.

- Editors of Relish Magazine

Butternut Squash and Sausage Soup

Store-bought peeled butternut squash is a convenient timesaver. If you decide to buy whole squash, look for vegetables with long necks. That's where the flesh is.

- 3 tablespoons olive oil, divided ■ ½ pound turkey sausages, cut into
- bite-size pieces■ 2 cups thinly sliced carrots
- 1 cup diced onion ■ 1 (15-ounce) can small white beans,
- rinsed and drained
- 1 (14-ounce) can diced tomatoes, undrained
- 1 pound peeled butternut squash, cut into small cubes (3 ½ cups)
- 5 cups water ■ 1 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme ■ 1 heaping teaspoon vegetable broth
- concentrate (such as Better Than Bouillon)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
   1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black
- pepper

  4 cups thinly sliced green cabbage
- 1. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in a large pot over medium heat. Add sausages and cook, tossing occasionally with a large spoon, until browned. Remove to a paper towellined dish. Wipe pot clean with paper

2. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil in pot over medium-high heat. Add carrots and onion. Cook, stirring occasionally, until onion starts to brown, about 5 minutes. Add beans, tomatoes, squash, sausages, water, thyme, vegetable concentrate, salt and pepper.

3. Cover and bring to a simmer. Reduce heat and simmer 40 minutes or until squash is tender. Add cabbage, cover and cook until cabbage is tender, about 5 minutes. Serves 6.

Cheese balls deserve more respect

By Joanna McQuillan Weeks More Content Now

S omehow, the cheese ball fell out of favor, joining others on the hors d'oeuvre equivalent of the Island of Misfit Toys.

Remember Vienna sausages wrapped in pastry dough to make pigs in blankets? How about sliced kielbasa swimming in a sauce made of ketchup and grape jelly? And then there was the block of cream cheese doused with hot pepper jelly.

These days, you're likely to find the ubiquitous salsa and tortilla chips at casual get-togethers, perhaps given a bit more pizazz by a side bowl of guacamole.

TIMOTHY TSUI/FLICK

But most everybody loves cheese, right? And the spreadable texture of a cheese ball makes it easier to snack on at a gathering than a block of cheese. That is, unless you want to pre-slice your cheddar, Gouda or Havarti, or precrumble your blue.

At one time, cheese balls were all the rage: a sun in the center of a platter, surrounded by rays of crackers. I have a recipe I clipped out of Sunset magazine about 30 years ago for a variation made with walnuts, scallions and pimento-stuffed green olives. I know it sounds weird, but it's really good.

A couple of weeks ago, I was on vacation in Maine and made a stop at Stonewall Kitchen in York. If you've never been to the home base of this empire that started with preserves sold at farmers markets, I wholeheartedly recommend it. It's just a short ways north of the Kittery shopping chaos.

Part of the fun of visiting — besides lunch in the cafe — is sampling new additions to the product line. One that I tried, and decided to buy, was Old Farmhouse Chutney. I picked up a recipe card
for (surprise!) a chutney cheese ball using the relish, but of course, you can substitute any store-

bought chutney you like.

I'll probably make this for my next gathering, but here's the recipe so you can try it, too.

Chutney Cheese Ball Makes approximately six servings. Recipe from Stonewall Kitchen.

- 16 ounces of cream cheese, softened
- ½ cup Stonewall Kitchen chutney
- ¼ cup green onion, diced ■ 1 clove garlic, crushed
- Dash each of salt and
- pepper
   ½ cup Colby cheese,
  shredded
- ½ cup Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
- ½ cup pecans, chopped

  1. Mix together the cream cheese, chutney,
- green onion, garlic, salt and pepper. 2. Fold in the Colby and Monterey Jack cheeses.
- Monterey Jack cheeses.

  3. Form the mixture into a ball and roll it in the chopped
- Note: I recommend wrapping this in plastic wrap and letting it chill for a few hours to firm up before serving.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
